'Jet-ski' vote is Tuesday

In Greenwood and Woodstock

By ALISON ALOISIO

Voters in Greenwood and Woodstock will meet separately but simultaneously Tuesday to decide whether to recommend a ban on "jet skis" on the ponds in their towns.

If a recommendation in favor of a ban is approved by either town, it would be submitted for consideration by the state Legislature, along with any recommendations from other towns in Maine.

If legislators then give towns the power to institute bans, the issue would come back to Greenwood and Woodstock's annual Town Meetings next March for a final decision.

Both towns will consider three articles for possible recommendation at next week's meetings: 1) whether to ban the craft entirely on all ponds less than 300 acres; 2) whether to ban them only on weekends and federal holidays; 3) whether to enter into an interlocal agreement between the two towns if either of the first two articles is approved. (The towns share North and South ponds)

Latest MEA scores on a par with state levels

By ALISON ALOISIO

The Telstar High School Class of 1999 exceeded or nearly equaled state MEA average scores in all subject areas except writing, the School Board learned Tuesday.

Principal Ted Davis presented to directors the average scores for the 56 students tested last spring.

The results ran as follows, with Telstar listed first, and the state average second: reading -- 320, 320; writing -- 250, 280; math -- 305, 310; science -- 340, 330; social studies -- 315, 275; arts and humanities -- 305, 310.

The overall scores, said Davis, were "very respectable."

Dr. Richard DeCarolis, director from Bethel, noted that the average writing score for Telstar students had decreased for the third year in a row (science and social studies also increased for the third year in a row).

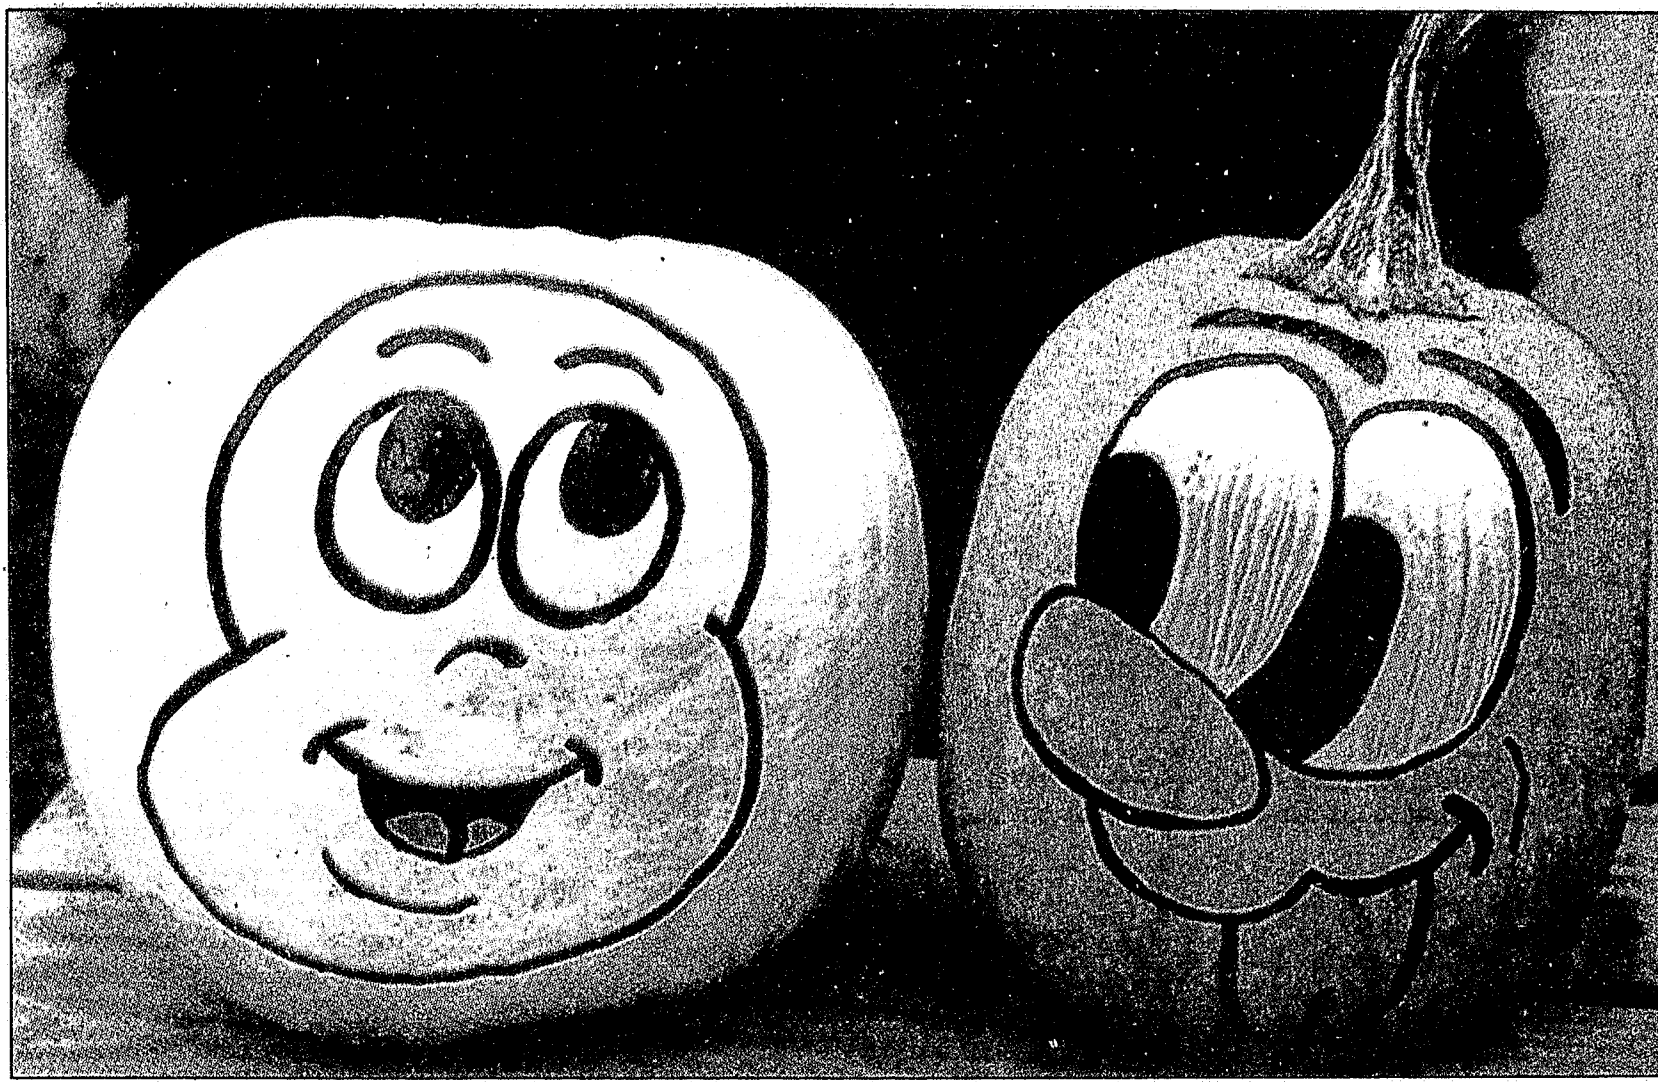

Davis said the English Department would be looking at ways to improve the writing scores.

Relative score comparisons aside, another method used by the state to analyze the scores indicates that from a strict mastery perspective, the students are still better writers than they are readers or mathematicians.

MEA scoring groups the students into four performance levels -- distinguished, advanced, basic and novice. In writing, 75 percent of the students fell in the advanced category. But in reading and math, most of them (67 and 61 percent, respectively) fell in the basic level of achievement.

ASC putting renovations and employees into building at Airport Industrial Park

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The American Skiing Company of Newry continues to expand its operations in the town-owned Edge Card building in Bethel's Airport Industrial Park.

The building, initially known as the GAMM II building, was built in 1988 on two AIP lots purchased from the town by a manufacturer that specialized in women's sportswear.

In 1990, however, the company went out of business, citing cheaper foreign competition, and two years later the property was purchased by the town -- with the goal of attracting a business that could provide job growth for local community.

From 1992 to 1997, the building was leased by Eric Paul, owner of Groan & McGurn, a West Bethel screen-printing operation.

Paul's lease came with an option to purchase, but the price was only guaranteed for two years, and the two years passed without him buying the property.

Paul and the town were subsequently unable to agree on a new price and last year Paul moved his operation out of the building.

ASC, the holding company for Sunday River Ski Resort in Newry and eight other resorts across the country, quickly moved in.

The town agreed to lease the 21,300-square-foot building to ASC

Liens, lack of deed still tying up Powder Ridge work

By ALISON ALOISIO

The deteriorating road in Newry's lapsed Powder Ridge subdivision may soon be rescued from its state of limbo by the original owner of the development's land.

It's been slow going, but C.B. Cummings & Sons, Co. of Norway is on its way to obtaining the deed to Douglass Road -- good news, hopefully, for individual property owners who have also been left in limbo over the road for several years.

Glover Development -- the developer that originally had the deed to the access road, drainage easements and common land in Powder Ridge -- "went away" several years ago. That left condominium and lot owners powerless to maintain the road because the deed technically remained with Glover. Then, in 1997, the subdivision's approval lapsed, and the Newry Planning Board said reapplication and approval would have to take place before any additional lots could be sold as part of a development.

one of the development's intersections -- would likely be necessary for approval.

Since then, Cummings said Monday, "We've been trying to obtain the deed from Vince Giarelli," a key player in Glover. "It's supposedly in the works," Cummings said. "We're trying to eliminate all the liens, and we've done a fairly good job." Those that are left, he said, are not financially significant enough to prevent a settlement.

C.B. Cummings had sold much of the land to Glover, but still owns a considerable share of it. Last spring, owner Ed Cummings met with the Planning Board to discuss the reapplication process. The board indicated road improvements -- particularly the leveling of a hump area at one of the development's intersections -- would likely be necessary for approval.

Historical society campaign receives major donation

$25,000 from Calif. couple will fund new research room

Robert and Janet Spidell of Anaheim, Calif., have donated $25,000 to the Bethel Historical Society's Capital Campaign.

The gift, which was announced this week by campaign chair Susan Herlihy, will underwrite a research room in the society's newly acquired museum facility, the historic 1821 O'Neil Robinson House, on Broad Street. Located next door to the society's present headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House (1813), the Robinson House will be adapted to provide space for a variety of functions including an expanded research library.

The Spidell gift has been designated for the research library, which will bear their name.

"We are delighted with this major gift," said Herlihy. "It will honor the generosity of two valued members of the society and serve as a stimulus for others to follow their outstanding example," she added.

Randall H. Bennett, the society's curator of collections, said: "The society's research library is, for many people, one of the most important aspects of our organization, and we're very grateful to the Spidells for their generous support as we plan the relocation of that part of our collection to the Robinson House. The new space will also allow us to make available a wealth of research material that has been in storage for several years," Bennett said.

Robert Spidell was born in Andover and graduated from Andover High School in 1951. After serving in the Marines, he moved to California and graduated from California State University at Long Beach in 1965 with a degree in economics. He started a tax consulting business in 1970, and founded Spidell Publishing in 1975. This company provides tax news, information and tax research databases for California tax professionals, including books, newsletters, seminars, and more recently CD-ROMs and a Web Site. He sold the company in 1997 and is now semi-retired, but still remains a consultant to the firm.

Spidell has been president of the Inland Society of Tax Consultants, the Southern California Chapter of the Newsletter Publishers Association, and was twice president of the California State University at Long Beach Alumni Association. He has been listed in Who's Who in California, Who's Who in the West, and Who's Who in Leading

PIPELINERS SAY THANKS

To the Editor:
We, the pipeliners in the Bethel area, would like to express our thanks to the Pleasant Valley Bible Church for the hospitality they showed us by putting together the pig roast on Oct. 3. Everyone who attended truly enjoyed the food and the time spent with the congregation. We have had some bad publicity in the Town of Bethel, and it touched our hearts to know that not all the townspeople feel the same toward the workers. It is so very hard to leave our homes and families to work on the road for nine months out of the year, and for some of the pipeliners this was their very first time away from their loved ones. So, when there are people who go out of their way to make traveling on the road more pleasant, it really helps our workers cope with being alone in a new town. We thank them from the bottom of our hearts.

MUSIC MAKERS NEED STANDS

To the Editor:
The Mahoosuc Music Makers have been providing music to the community for the past six years. As a community band, we have used part of the Telstar instrumentation and equipment for the duration of our existence. With the advent of instrumental music at SAD44, our band needs to acquire music stands. The music stands we previously used are owned by SAD44 and needed by that program now. We need to purchase approximately 30 music stands at $35 each. So we are asking individuals and businesses to support us in this fundraising effort to get $1,050 to purchase music stands. We are thrilled with the addition of instrumental music to SAD44 and want to provide them as much encouragement as possible. In addition, we plan to continue to share our love of music to the region. New members are always welcome. We have started practicing for a Christmas Concert, which will be Dec. 13 at 4 p.m. at the West Parish Congregational Church. Any people interested in joining the band are more than welcome to come to a practice. We meet Monday nights at 7 p.m. on the stage of Telstar Regional High School. Anyone wishing more information about the band or this fundraising effort should feel free to contact either Ellen Whitney at 824-0299 or Jonathan Smith at 824-2556.

WINTER FEST '99

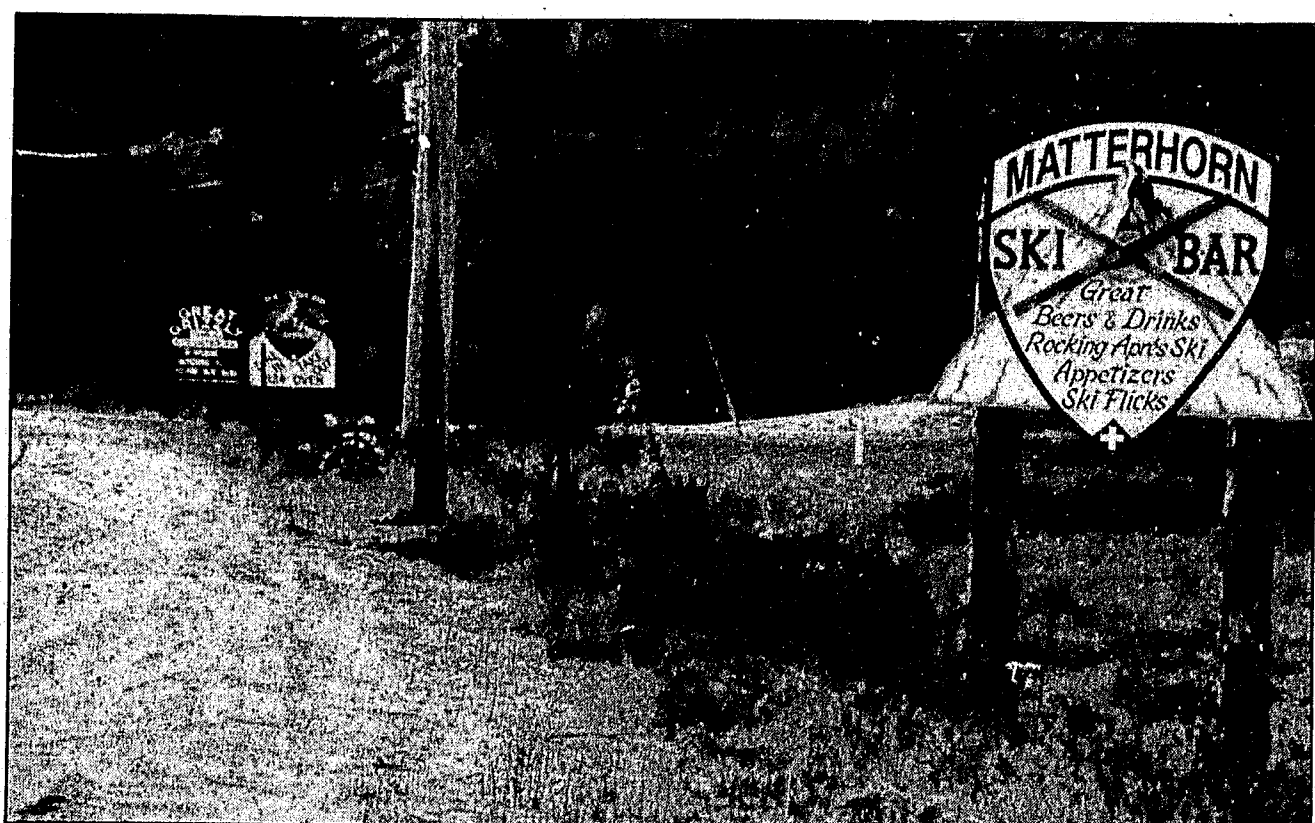

To the Editor:
Winter Fest '99 needs community businesses, organizations and individuals to get involved. Winter Fest is being planned for Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 9 and 10. We will be printing a brochure similar to the Harvest Fest flyer for distribution at the Boston Ski Show. Deadline for the brochure is Friday, Oct. 30. We invite businesses to submit a 25-word or less description of their events including time, location and any fees to the BACC, P.O. Box 439, Bethel, ME 04217, or e-mail us at bethelcc@nxi.com. Anyone interested in learning more about organizing an event for the weekend is urged to contact committee co-chairs Susan Isham at the Sunday River Inn, Holly Hertel at Sunday River Ski Resort or Paula Wheeler at the BACC office at 824-2282. This year we hope to make Bethel "Home of the World's Largest Snowman" on the Bethel Station lot next to Western Maine Supply. The "Guinness Book of World Records" has been contacted. We are working with Sunday River to make the snow, Keeley Crane in Portland to lift and position it, and we hope that many more Bethel area and Maine businesses will be involved before we are through. Also being planned is a snowman contest involving students and businesses; Sun Valley Sports, local snowmobile clubs and Western Maine Supply are planning an antique snowmobile show and a pig roast. Other local events include a parade, a beer fest, a skating party on the common and a progressive dinner featuring many of Bethel's wonderful restaurants and eateries. An abundance of recreational opportunities are also planned including a Telemark Festival at Mt. Abram. Sunday River Ski Resort is planning "learn-to" and advanced-level skiing and snowboarding opportunities. Sunday River Inn and Cross Country Ski Center, The Bethel Inn Nordic Center and Carter's Cross Country Ski Center will host cross-country skiing, skating and snowshoe lessons for all ages and ability levels. To everyone's delight, there will be horse-drawn sleigh rides, dog sled rides and evening fireworks.

SERVICE THAT GOES BEYOND

To the Editor:
This morning I was treated to expert service. In a world where most business is impersonal service or just takes your money and runs, Don's Car Care of Bethel is the supreme in customer service. This morning (Oct. 8) after replacing my fuel tank, Don and Bill of the above business drove my van to my house. That's the boss and a "service tech." Where else would you get that high degree of service? Since my mother's death in April, I have been privileged to receive such a flood of support and love that this flatlander's heart has gone from ice to a pool of water. Why can't other places show such caring? The Newry/Bethel area has me until I join Mom! Yes, I may be a flatlander, but one who is deeply grateful to live not only in a state that says "life as it should be" but indeed practices it. Here in the Newry/Bethel area talk is sometimes not just words. I guess I'm becoming another flatlander with pride or worse, a redneck about the area I live in.

A MATTER OF CONCERN—Newry selectmen have received complaints regarding the number of signs at the Great Grizzly/Matterhorn on the Sunday River Road. The signs are legal, however, because the town ordinance simply states that two signs are allowed per business. The Grizzly and Matterhorn are considered two businesses. (Photo by Alison Aloisio)

FOREST SUPERVISOR'S THOUGHTS ON A PARK

To the Editor:
Recent discussion of the notion to change the designation of the White Mountain National Forest from a national forest to a national park touches me personally and professionally. As forest supervisor of the White Mountain National Forest, there are three points that I want to make. First, I am very proud to work for the Forest Service and I am absolutely committed to the concepts of multiple use and forest stewardship. I have dedicated my career of over 23 years to the care of our national forests. I've worked on six national forests around the country and spent three years in our Washington, DC, headquarters. I love national forests and believe that national forest management is right for the White Mountains. My second point is that I also believe in the public process. In the forest service, our job is about "caring for the land and serving people." We are unique among government agencies in the amount of interaction we have with people concerning management of public land. We ask people to work with us. We do our best to listen and be responsive to public issues and concerns. Open public planning is serving people, so I view this current national forest -- national park discussion as a strength of open dialog about public lands. Some people have said that to meet society's needs we should look at management of the national forest as a park. I do believe those needs have been, and can continue to be, met by managing the 774,000 acres of beautiful public land in New Hampshire and Maine as the White Mountain National Forest, following the forest service mission to provide for recreation, wildlife, water, timber and wilderness. Back in the early 1900's, people looked at the large expanse of cutover and burned land and resulting erosion. They decided to restore this land as a national forest. With a lot of help and involvement from forest users and partners, the bare and abused land is now a productive forest. Our grandparents and great-grandparents would be astounded at what the people of New England have accomplished in restoring the forests. The majority of people who comment on proposals and projects have told us they want multiple-use benefits. Managing for conservation and multiple use of natural resources is a challenge and can be controversial. We have learned from science, people's input and our experiences. We work hard to find a balance of uses while protecting resources. We do listen, often adjust, and will continue to seek to improve. My third point ties to the value of planning for the future. Our forest planning process provides an opportunity for people to be involved in the challenge of natural resource management. As change continues, future flexibility to manage resources will be more important than ever. As a national forest, we have the ability and the authority to use a wide array of forest management tools to provide for multiple use activities. In addition, we have an important role to demonstrate the use of the best management practices for sustainable resource management. We also need to meet legal requirements such as maintaining viable populations of fish, wildlife and plant species, while at the same time ensuring that the use of resources contributes to the local economy and those people who make a living from the forest. I certainly appreciate the strong support for the White Mountain National Forest and multiple-use management that has been shown by our New Hampshire Congressional delegation, elected state officials, and many organizations and individuals. Under the forest plan and by working together in the New England tradition of collaboration, people can help us understand how they want the national forest to be managed. This will ensure that the plan provides for choices in how we use our national forest now and for future generations.

SPARE THE UNIQUE POPULATIONS OF OVERSET POND

To the Editor:
I have urgently requested that the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife reconsider its decision to "reclaim" Overset Pond in Greenwood. I was shocked to read of this plan in the Sept. 10 edition of The Bethel Citizen, in part because I haven't heard of it being done anywhere in the state in about 30 years but, then, I haven't lived in Maine since 1961 and have to rely on frequent visits to friends and family and The Bethel Citizen for news of the region. The case for abandoning this procedure statewide and especially in the case of Overset Pond is compelling. In the first place, the claim that a pond's fish populations compete extensively with species IF&W is trying to manage, i.e. trout, is simply not true. The fact is any body of water, naturally or artificially limited, must consist of balanced populations of both predator and prey species, in addition to aquatic insect and plankton populations, in order for both to have successful populations. There certainly are other things that impact on the success of fish populations in any given habitat, including size, water quality, temperature range, depth, spawning opportunities, etc. Any fisheries biologist should be well aware of these factors. The terrible mistake many fisheries management people make is stocking Brown trout (Salmo trutta, a foreign species) with Brook trout (Salvelinus fontinalis, a native species). This is the competitive situation created by placing these two species in the same habitat. Brown trout will not co-habitate with brook trout. If an environment is large enough, you can have limited success with co-habiting populations of browns and brook trout. Overset Pond, Bryant Pond, or Indian Pond are all too small for that. Actually, we shouldn't even need to be debating this issue. Because of its devastating impact on brook trout populations, the brown trout should never be introduced into brook trout habitat. Also, as correctly stated by local bait and supply dealer Ken Mason, the reclamation process just doesn't work. Most of the so-called undesirable species actually return naturally within a few years. However, what he doesn't say is that some native species would be eliminated and rendered extinct; most notably, the smelt population. Probably the most important prey species in any environment where they naturally exist, these fish have evolved into unique populations in many different habitats over the last 10,000 years (since the last ice-age). The elimination or rendering extinct of any of these unique populations should never be allowed. The same case can be made for our native brook trout populations, which I fear are already extinct in Overset Pond. Populations unique to many watersheds throughout their original range have been rendered extinct in numerous ways, all attributable to human interference. Another problem with the hypothesis as presented in the Citizen article is that you can never have successful angling in a pond like Overset with fly-fishing-only regulations and especially restricted to fishing from shore. There is very little shoreline on Overset that you can throw a fly from; very little of it is wadeable to allow one to extricate oneself from the shoreline cover. All this means that 90-95 percent of this pond's surface area would never see a fly. Not to mention that the 50-60 foot depths where most mature game fish reside most of the time are just not reachable under these circumstances. Populations of hornpout, pickerel, etc., are going to receive no fishing pressure at all. For these reasons alone, fly-fishing-only regulations in this case are totally inappropriate. Mr. Boland's comments on Rainbow trout further bring into question his, and the department's fisheries management expertise. There has been a successful, wild population of rainbow trout in the Androscoggin River for over a hundred years. You can catch up to five or six pounders from the Androscoggin itself and beautiful small fish up to about 12 inches in almost any of its tributary streams, down at least as far as Rumford. I've never fished the big Androscoggin or its tributaries below Rumford, but I expect they are there too. I also have a couple problems with the comment about gating the road to Overset Pond. In the first place, it will not be "equal access for everybody." Dirt bikes, ATCs and ATVs will still have access and will destroy the road that everyone else would have to walk on (if you could get anyone to walk in there under these circumstances). As I've already said, you can't fish that pond with a fly rod so who would want to walk a mile, for what? And who could possibly believe that anyone would try to drive over that road (or walk) just to get bait. This is obviously just another excuse; not a reason. A mighty lame excuse at that. There is not a shred of legitimacy in the case for poisoning this pond. Every one of the excuses presented are just that; excuses -- not reasons. There are no valid reasons for doing this, other than covering up past mismanagement. To properly manage the pond, manage it for proper predator/prey balance (including native species); supplement game species stocks if IF&W must, introduce appropriate new species (not foreign species) as needed to provide that balance and properly manage the habitat. Understand that when IF&W introduces stocked fish, it runs the risk of introducing genetically impure strains and diseases. In any case, we do not want to end up with a remote fish tank with nothing in it but stocked, engineered and foreign species. This process doesn't work and must be abandoned. We don't want any more of our native populations exterminated.

Pipeline worker killed

STARK--Authorities are investigating the death Monday of a Connecticut man at a PNGTS pipeline construction site. John Card Jr., 50, of Columbia, Conn., died about 5 p.m. when a piece of heavy equipment used to lay pipe swung out of control and hit him. Witnesses said Card warned others to get out of the way before being struck by the two-to-three-ton machine.

Pipeline work stopped in N.H.

CONCORD, N.H.--The state Department of Environmental Services issued an order Oct. 2 forbidding the Portland Natural Gas Transmission System from creating additional disturbed areas in the soil on the site of the company's pipeline project. PNGTS had laid pipe in the ground in some areas, backfilled the trench, then left the soil without the appropriate mulching and seeding to prevent erosion. PNGTS must now begin temporary and permanent stabilization before disturbing new ground. Much of the area left without mulching seeding is located in Berlin, Dummer and Stark.

Gilbert reorganizes

LOCKE MILLS--Gilbert Manufacturing will continue to operate after reorganizing its debts under Chapter 11. Gilbert filed for protection Sept. 11 in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Portland, after the failure of DLG Square and Dowell Inc., a Waterford sawmill owned by Gilbert. Gilbert will use its cash assets to pay employees. Creditors will have loan payments restructured or lowered while the plant continues to operate.

St. Lawrence & Atlantic recognized

AUBURN--The St. Lawrence & Atlantic Railroad has received two awards, one national and one state, recognizing the line's excellence. The national award, the Short Line of the Year, was given by the railroad magazine Railway Age. In Maine, St. L&A received the Gold Star Award from the Maine Economic Growth Council. Railway Age singled out the line for a customer service initiative aimed at increasing service while decreasing costs for customers. The award from the growth council recognized the company's work to increase the percentage of Maine Manufacturing freight transported by rail.

BETHEL--The Bethel Outing Club will hold its annual ski swap Oct. 30 and 31 at the Gould Academy Field House, with proceeds supporting area children wishing to become involved in nordic skiing. New and used alpine, cross-country, and snowboard equipment will be sold. Major ski retailers will participate. Used equipment may be put in for sale, and must be brought to the sale location after 4 p.m. Oct. 30. A 15 percent consignment fee is charged on items sold. The sale begins Friday evening, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., and continues Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Shaker to speak at grange

WEST PARIS--Brother Arnold Hadd of the Shaker Community of Sabbath Day Lake will speak on the history of Maine agriculture tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. at the West Paris Grange Hall on Church Street. A slide show will be part of his presentation. The general public is welcome, and there is no admission. The grange's regular meeting will follow the lecture.

Moose season a success

AUGUSTA--Hundreds of Mainers' freezers are stocked full of moose meat following the closing of the state's biggest moose hunt in recent history, and perhaps ever. At least 1,848 animals were shot and tagged during the six-day hunt that ended Saturday. Based on numbers available Sunday, 92.4 percent of the 2,000 hunters who received permits bagged a moose. The percentage is about average for the annual hunt. "It was a very clean and very safe hunt," said Paul Fournier of the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife. Hunters killed 1,446 bulls and 401 cows. The 2,000 permits issued this year is up from 1,500 last year, when 1,367 moose were shot.

Maine, N.H. kids have high Net access

CONCORD, N.H.--Maine pupils have virtually 100 percent access to the Internet, while their New Hampshire counterparts have more than 91 percent, according to a recent survey by Quality Education Data, Inc., of Denver, Colo. Massachusetts was reported to have 84 percent access. The national average is 76 percent. The study included about 40 states.

Oxford Telecom has new president

BUCKFIELD--Roderick N. "Rick" Anstey has been appointed the new president and CEO of Oxford Telecom. Anstey takes over leadership of the Oxford companies following the retirement of F. Robert Jamison, who has been general manager for many years. Jamison will remain on Oxford's Board of Directors. Anstey has worked in the telephone industry for 26 years. He came to Oxford Telecom from Lancaster, Pa., where he worked for Frontier Corp. for 19 years.

Make college affordable

NORWAY--A workshop on how families can make college more affordable will be offered Wednesday, Oct. 21 at 7 p.m. at the Norway Savings Bank office at 261 Main Street, Norway. The workshop will include advice on finding the best college opportunities, saving for college and the new tax laws, financial aid, and how to use the Internet for college admissions. The workshop, sponsored by the Norway Savings Bank, is designed for all families with children any age who want to pursue education beyond high school. It will be offered by Bob Stuart, president of Yarmouth Educational Consultants. Please RSVP by calling (207) 743-9771.

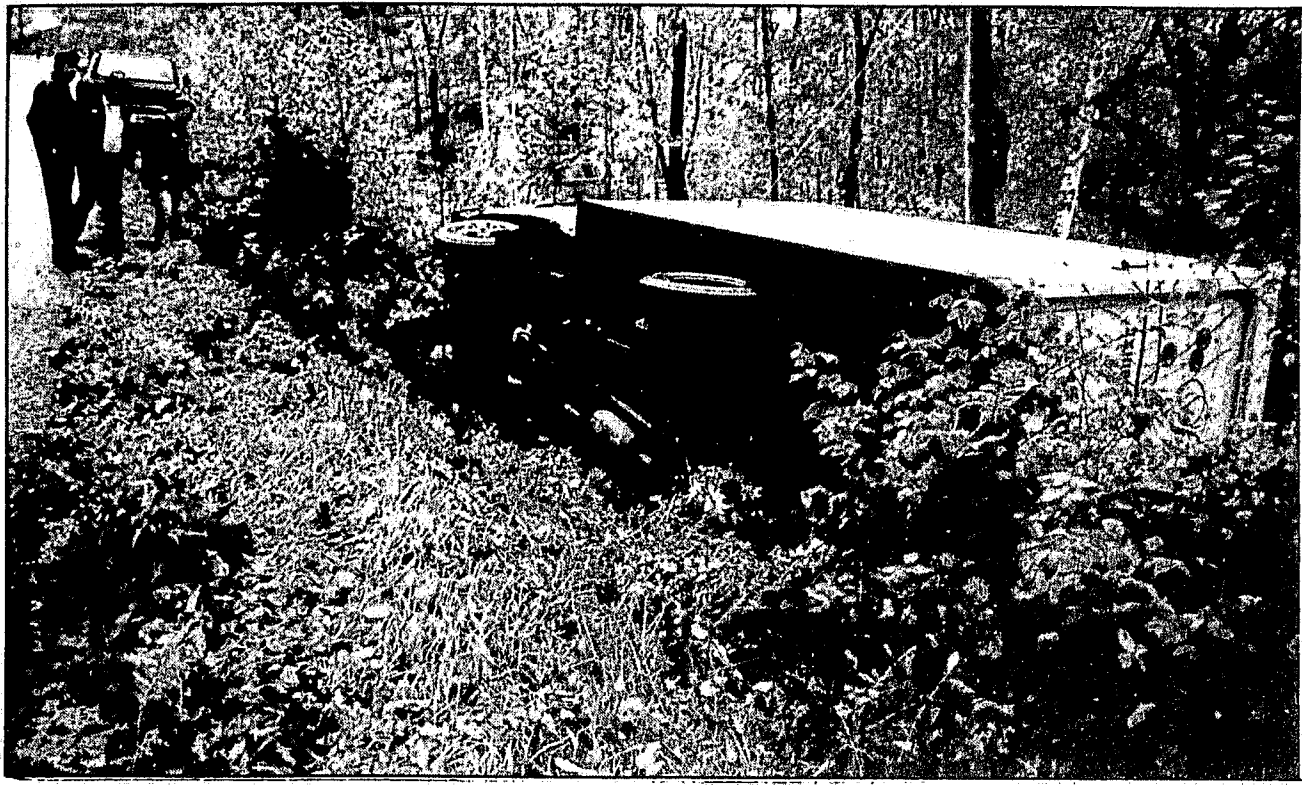

Divide Maine in two?

BANGOR--A bill proposed last year to divide Maine into two states was turned into a study of Maine's rural economy. But the effort has not gone away. Robbie McKay of Kingman Township is circulating a petition to divide the state and create a new territory consisting of Oxford, Franklin, Somerset, Piscataquis, Penobscot, Aroostook, Hancock and Washington counties. McKay said she's not interested in a symbolic gesture. She wants her effort to succeed. In 1997, Rep. Henry Joy, R-Crystal, put in a bill to study the possibility of dividing Maine, which led to a task force on improving the rural economy. For years, there's been talk of "two Maines" -- the southern portion where jobs are plentiful and the rural parts to the north that have not enjoyed an economic boom. McKay says she and others are fed up with the disparities. They're mad about environmentalists who want to turn northern Maine into a park. They're mad about restrictions on development in rural areas. They're mad about the struggling rural economy. And they're upset over a lack of political clout in Augusta.

Free legal advice, info available

AUGUSTA--The Attorney General's Consumer Mediation Service is offered free to Maine consumers who have a problem with a business. Complaint mediation is a way to settle disputes when the two parties work through a third person. The service, known as Tel-Law can be reached at (207) 622-1470, ext. 556. The Lawyer Referral & Information Service also publishes 17 client education pamphlets on topics including divorce, domestic abuse, wills, probate, and bankruptcy. A pamphlet may be requested by calling 1-800-860-1460, by e-mail at info@mainebar.org.

OVER THE EDGE
A 20-year-old Florida man will likely be charged as an out-of-state driver under the age of 21 operating a commercial vehicle in Maine, following this truck rollover in Mason Friday. The driver, whose name was not available, said he was trying to avoid an animal in the road when the truck went over an embankment on King's Highway. The driver was taken to Stephens Memorial Hospital with minor injuries. The truck, owned by Taylor Rental Truck of Biddeford, sustained approximately $15,000 in damage, according to deputy Bruce Korhonen of the Oxford County Sheriff's Department.

From the Bethel Police log:

Drivers need to sleep

At 9:46 p.m. on Oct. 11 police responded to a call on Route 2 for a vehicle that had crossed the center and fog lines many times and had also changed speed from 45 miles per hour to 75 m.p.h. several times. The vehicle was stopped. The driver said she was headed to Pinkham Notch, N.H., and was very sleepy. She said she had not been drinking. She was advised to stop and rest, and she proceeded to the Route 2 Irving Station to do so.

Also on Oct. 11

At 5:47 p.m. police responded to a one-car accident on Vernon Street. The driver had fallen asleep and struck a sign.

Thursday, Oct. 8

At 5:05 p.m. police were dispatched to the intersection of routes 26 and 232 to assist with traffic while a Sheriff's deputy handled a tractor trailer accident on Route 232. The officer stayed on the scene until another OXSO officer arrived.

At 4:24 p.m. four juveniles were discovered inside a building on Summer Street smoking cigarettes. Investigation showed that entry had been gained through a porch window broken during or shortly after entry. The four subjects were summonsed and released to a Gould Academy staff member.

Tuesday, Oct. 13

At 1:50 p.m. a subject was stopped on Route 26 for unnecessary acceleration noise as he was leaving the Telstar High School parking lot. Police observed a pack of cigarettes on the dashboard of the vehicle. The driver, a juvenile, admitted ownership. He was issued a traffic ticket for unnecessary noise and a criminal summons for possession of tobacco by a minor. He was also given a written warning for failure to wear a seatbelt, and for operating a defective motor vehicle (unsafe tires). He was advised to take the vehicle off the road until the safety problems were fixed.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies. An answering machine takes calls when an officer is not in the office.

Letters on the 'jet-ski' issue

WORSE THAN ANNOYING

To the Editor:

There will be special Town Meetings in Woodstock and Greenwood on Oct. 20. One of the issues is the use of "jet skis" on the many lakes in Maine under 300 acres in size, and whether to allow individual communities to place restrictions on this use of a valuable resource.

We are not lake-front owners; however, my husband and our family swim, kayak, sail, canoe and enjoy the loons and herons. It is worse than annoying to have these activities disrupted by two, three or more noisy "jet skis" doing their endless loops and circles up and down and around. It is a matter of a few totally disregarding the enjoyment of the many in their search for a thrilling ride. The pleasure of kayaks, sailboats, and canoes is unfairly diminished.

Beyond the nuisance factor, there is a very large safety factor. We are forced to restrict our swimming to a very small area, or leave the lake entirely when these personal watercraft take over. It would not be so bad if there was enforcement of existing laws -- however, "jet skis" come too close to shore and annoy birds, swimmers and non-motorized boaters. In the absence of the resources to police these craft, one solution is to limit their use to larger bodies of water.

If we fail to act, and other communities do ban "jet ski" use, there is the potential of an increased number of users from those communities trailing in their personal watercraft and creating an even greater problem by overrunning our small, pristine bodies of water. These craft are designed to provide speed and an exciting ride; our lakes are much too small to handle this. Larger bodies of water are more appropriate for this form of recreation.

A UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY

To the Editor:

On Oct. 20, the citizens of Woodstock and Greenwood have a unique opportunity to vote on what the surface use of the ponds in their communities will be.

L.D. 1730, passed by the Legislature last session, is a result of the recommendations of the Great Ponds Task Force.

At the annual meeting of the Community Lakes Association in July the members voted unanimously to form a task force to develop recommendations for surface use of the ponds in our area.

For the following reasons, the task force is recommending that PWCs, ("jet skis") be banned on all ponds in Woodstock and Greenwood:

1. The ponds are small, all under 300 acres.
2. The noise from the "jet skis" is extremely annoying and is magnified by the effect of the mountains and ledges.
3. The speed and maneuverability of the craft is not compatible with what others have normally and traditionally done on the water.

We hope that the voters of Woodstock and Greenwood will consider this important issue and will attend the special town meetings on Oct. 20.

Nancy Willard, President
Community Lakes Association

SWAMPING THE WILL OF THE MANY

To the Editor:

As a lakefront property owner in Bryant Pond since 1973, I feel qualified to publicly address the question of banning personal watercraft, commonly referred to as "jet skis," on Lake Christopher.

For a good 10 months of every year, my property on Lake Christopher is a peaceful, almost idyllic, and thoroughly delightful haven for my family and me from the noise and pollution of metropolitan areas of New England. But recently, the noise factor and turbulent waters created by the use of "jet skis" during the months of July and August, when almost all homes on the lake are fully used, have become stressful, irritating and totally disturbing. Our lake is small, ideally suited to canoeing, sailing and swimming off the numerous floats and docks. Young children who are learning to swim or paddle canoes are now at great hazard from the speeding "jet skis" and the unexpected turbulent wake they create. The native ducks and the occasional loons, whose lakeshore habitat is easily flooded out by the wake from "jet skis," and whose young chicks are swamped, and often become victims of "jet skis," are rapidly diminishing in numbers.

Actually, one Sunday in August of this year as I stood on my dock, I watched in horror as a family of ducks, mother and seven very young chicks, swam across the narrow part of the lake in the path of a speeding jet skier who ran directly over the flock, killing two of the young as the mother and others struggled to regain their equilibrium in the rough waters and swam hurriedly to relative safety ashore.

Does the will of the few who disturb the serenity as well as the wildlife of our small lake on a summer's day have priority over the comfort, safety and peace of mind of many property owners? How come? What has become of the will of the majority? Why not canvass every owner of property on Lake Christopher for a personal opinion? Many of us cannot attend special meetings to state our wishes and cast our votes in person, usually by raising hands.

E.L. Wilson

OUR PONDS ARE TOO SMALL

To the Editor:

I am writing as a North Pond dweller, to share my perspective about "jet skis." The pond is the site of many activities: fishing from the bridge and boats, explorations in kayaks and canoes, the sailboat races, motor boats and water skiers, and increasingly "jet skis." There is no doubt that the small number of "jet skis" using the pond has an impact on the pond's environment far beyond that of any other activity. A single "jet ski" can be heard by anyone on the pond and by those on shore. The size of North Pond, and the other ponds in the towns of Greenwood and Woodstock, is too small to permit "jet skis" to be operated in the manner for which they were designed unless the tranquility for all others in the area is to be sacrificed. The "jet skis" can only circle endlessly given the limited area, and the noise of their high-pitched engines is amplified as it echoes off the surrounding hills.

Others have attempted to make the case for "jet skis" as a provider of family fun. This may be the case, although I would wonder how it could be so much fun to know that your activity requires the loss of enjoyment for so many others. There are other issues relating to bird life and the environment which I hope would give pause to those seeking family fun on a "jet ski" as opposed to the other available, far less costly and impactful, options.

The Legislature indicated that some lakes and ponds were incompatible with "jet skis" by prohibiting such craft on certain bodies of water in the state. It is unfortunate that they did not extend this protection to all small ponds. However, the upcoming Town Meetings in Greenwood and Woodstock do provide us with an opportunity to make our feelings known to the Legislature. I hope that residents of these towns who care about the future of our area will attend and support restricting "jet ski" use on our small ponds.

Cathy Newell
Locke Mills

THE FUTURE OF OUR LAKES

To the Editor:

The state is asking which waters can safely handle the increasing numbers of "jet skis" as sales skyrocket throughout New England and New York. As other towns with lakes restrict or ban the use of "jet skis," lakes that don't say what they want will be host to an even greater number of these craft.

I would like to thank the selectmen of Greenwood and Woodstock for not losing track of time, and meeting the state's Town Meeting "jet ski" legislation deadline. On Oct. 20, before the state's deadline, both towns will hold special Town Meetings on the question of whether "jet skis" are being appropriately used on the lakes now and if the lakes can handle the increases the future holds. The special Town Meetings will give Greenwood and Woodstock a voice with which to let the state know what the townspeople want for the area's lakes.

The lakes in this area are wonderful places for fishing, swimming, canoeing, boating and picnicking. We are lucky to have public boat launches, beaches, and picnic areas that bring people in from all over. The upcoming Town Meeting may determine the future of these much-loved and used places.

The question is which waters can safely handle the increasing numbers of "jet skis" as the sales rise.

The result of this statewide questionnaire may result in some lakes becoming "Jet Ski Lakes" while the others are "jet ski" free.

This is an important opportunity to let the state know what the towns want, and I hope everyone with feelings and/or concerns about the lakes and their future to come, speak up if they want, listen and let the state know what they think.

and Lake Christopher.)

If both articles are rejected, usage will remain the same as it is now. Should one town approve one ban and the second town approve the other, said Bartlett, "it could be very confusing, but it can happen that way."

She said neither town is considering funding any enforcement in the event a ban is eventually approved. "We would leave it up to the game wardens," she said.

Other articles

Both Woodstock and Greenwood also have articles on other issues to consider at next week's meetings.

Greenwood voters will also decide whether to authorize the transfer of $15,000 each from the FEMA and tree growth accounts to the truck account.

A 1988 three-quarter ton town pickup truck needs to be replaced, according to road foreman Alan

Seames. "We've put a lot of money into it each year," he said, and it is not worth continuing to fix the vehicle.

A new truck would cost approximately $30,000, including a plow. If the article is approved, the truck would be purchased right after the Town Meeting.

The FEMA funds were reimbursement for work done by the road crew during the January ice storm.

Woodstock voters will decide whether to install a street light at the intersection of Routes 232 and 26, at the top of Merrifield Hill.

Constable Jim Miclon suggested the light, saying it would give motorists a clearer view of the intersection, and provide lighting for emergency personnel when accidents do occur.

Voters will also decide whether to put up for sale a parcel of land on Railroad Street. Town Manager Vern Maxfield said three parties have expressed interest in buying the land. It had also been mentioned as a possible site for a town tennis court.

Finally, a 3-acre land parcel has been offered to the town by Fran Head, and residents must decide whether to accept the gift. The property is located in front of the Whitman Memorial Library.

The Greenwood meeting starts at 7 p.m. at the Town Hall, while Woodstock's begins at 7 p.m. at the Woodstock Elementary School.

He married the former Janet Murphy in 1963, and they have four children and four grandchildren. Mrs. Spidell graduated from the Agnes School of Nursing (now Larson College) in Fond du Lac, Wis., in 1957. She worked as an N. until becoming an officer/employee in the family business in 1978. She has been president of the Northern Orange County (Calif.) Both Spidells are interested in history and genealogy. More than a thousand members strong, the Bethel Historical Society is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive historical agency, which for over thirty years has been dedicated to collecting, preserving and interpreting the region's past.

The Spidell gift is one of the largest to date in the society's effort to raise funds for another facility and its proposed Regional History Center. Upon completion, the Robinson House will provide for improved storage and greater access to collections as well as rooms devoted to exhibits, educational activities, research, traditional crafts and museum store operations.

In its fundraising campaign, the society is encouraging individuals to name specific spaces, for a minimum donation of $25,000.

BHS Executive Director Stan Howe, said Wednesday that the three-year campaign is now approximately one third of the way toward its goal of $950,000.

The statewide distribution is similar.

(Not all of the students in the class took the MEAs. One student was excluded from testing due to an identified disability, two others were totally excluded from testing, and two students were tested but excluded from the report because they received special education and related services for more than 60 percent of the school day in a composite or self-contained program.

Compared to the state, the first exclusion equaled the average 2 percent of students excluded statewide for that reason; the second exclusion represented 4 percent of the Telstar students, compared to 3 percent for the state, and the third exclusion was 4 percent, compared to 1 for the state.)

BRYANT POND SPEAKER

Charles J. McGillicuddy will speak at the Unitarian Universalist Church of Bryant Pond at 9 a.m. on Sunday, Oct. 18. The public is invited to attend this service and meet McGillicuddy, great-grandson of Sebastian S. Vose, an early deacon in the Waterville Universalist Church, and a chaplain in the Civil War with the Grand Army of the Republic.

The sermon will be taken from a book of sermons published in 1857 that gives the Universalist interpretation of Luke, III, 17.

Charles McGillicuddy appears in period dress and delivers the entire service in the first person as S.S. Vose. Mr. McGillicuddy is a nurse and health educator at the Veterans' Affairs Medical Center at Togus, where he works with veterans with Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder. He lives in Augusta. The public is cordially invited. Services are held on the first and third Sundays of each month.

Building

for two years at $53,800 a year (roughly half again what Paul had been paying).

ASC initially installed carrels in the front of the building and moved in telemarketing staff for its corporate-wide Edge Card program.

Over the course of the ensuing year ASC undertook extensive internal renovation of the building, which prior to the work had been largely a shell with a small office space prior.

The renovations included constructing internal walls and more than 40 offices (no all as yet occupied).

In addition to the Edge Card staff, ASC moved in its Call Center, information systems, and retail operation, as well as the corporate pilots and some accounting staff.

Currently, there are approximately 45 employees working in or from the building, and employment there is expected to increase during the winters and as other staff are assigned to the available office space, according to John Clifford, vice president for marketing information systems.

The ASC lease came with an option to renew, but not an option to purchase.

Arlan Jodrey, chairman of the Bethel Airport Authority, said that is the way the town wants to keep it.

"I don't think we want to lose the income," Jodrey said.

Jodrey said the authority (which is responsible for managing the industrial park as well as the airport) is pleased with the way the arrangement with ASC is working.

"ASC created the jobs, and that was the whole point of the this," he said.

There are four unsold lots remaining in the AIP, but for the time being they have been taking off the market, Jodrey said.

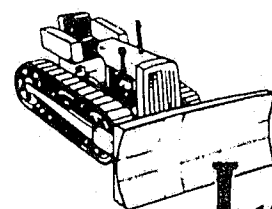

"Too much is happening too fast at the airport," he said, "and we want to make sure we don't give away something we're going to need later."

But if an interested buyer were to come along with sufficient financing and a plan to create additional jobs, he said, "I'm sure we'd be interested, but I don't think we're interested in selling a lot just to get rid of it."

Bessie Bennett, Evergreen Road, was recently visited by her granddaughter and husband, Cathy and Duane Gordon of Windham, and their two children, Hannah May and Bennett Mason Dorion. During their visit, the family went to Grafton Notch State Park to view the foliage and to explore Mother Walker Falls and Moose Cave. They also drove to the new Jordan Bowl hotel at Sunday River to enjoy the spectacular view.

John F. Kallis is a patient at the Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway.

Gwyneth Bohr reports her husband Ken is making a great recovery from his surgery. He is enjoying the care and training of a new five-month-old golden retriever puppy named Alexis. Their daughter, Kathy, has been visiting.

Susan and Mark Mallory have purchased a house on Chandler Hill and will be moving back to the Bethel area by the end of the month. He is employed as a salesman for the Coca Cola Company in the Lewiston area.

Amy Davis attended the wedding of grandson Jackson White and Sylvia Morin on Saturday at Lisbon Falls. Jackson is the son of Susan Davis White and Harvey White of Lisbon Falls. All of Amy's children and grandchildren attended the special occasion held at the Methodist Church, and a reception at the American Legion Hall. Tom Davis of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Betsy Davis Retallick and family of Beverly, Mass., returned to Bethel with Amy for the night. The two families left for their homes late Sunday afternoon.

Stu, Becky, Kailee and Colin Wagner of Edmunds spent the weekend with Becky's parents, Bob and Polly Davis.

Sympathy is extended to the families of Annie Feeney, who died Sunday morning at the Ledgewood Nursing Home. Also to Leslie and Ray Cooley in the loss of her grandmother.

The former employees of the Casco Bank, with Roger Conant as manager, have many fond memories of Annie Feeney. She came to Bethel from Fryeburg following the death of her husband and Don Feeney's father. She was employed at the Casco Bank in Fryeburg for many years as a teller. When she first moved here she rented the upstairs apartment of Merton Brown on Broad Street. She was employed by Roger at the Bethel Casco Bank as a part-time employee for several years. From Merton's she moved to Sudbury Village and was there until the family was forced to move her, due to serious illness, to the Ledgewood Nursing Home in late summer. Every fall I would take Annie some of Lefty's big red tomatoes, and I'll never forget her big smile when I arrived. This year I didn't get to her with tomatoes, but I do hope I reached her with our prayers. She was a fine lady and Bethel Casco Bank employees will never forget her.

Allison Davis and Tim Bernier of Gorham, N.H., were visitors of her parents, Ted and Linda Davis. Allison is employed at the Androscoggin Valley Hospital in Berlin, N.H. Todd Davis, Ted and Linda's son, is now employed as supervisor of the Pulp Mill for Mead Corporation in Rumford. He is living in Rumford Center and had his family for dinner on Sunday.

Aaron Conant from Ticonderoga, N.Y., has been visiting his parents, Roger and Lillian Conant.

Bud and Shirley Clough, Flat Road, West Bethel, were visited for a few days last week by granddaughter Jodi Withee and son from Yarmouth. On Sunday, daughter Karen Withee of Freeport and granddaughter and husband, Shelley and Rick Rosignol and son Timmy from Windham were dinner guests and treated them with their birthday meal. The Cloughs both celebrate their special days in October. They will be leaving soon for their winter home at Fort Pierce, Fla.

Dan and Jeannine Conant Rand and baby Joshua were home from Richmond, Va., to visit with her parents, Roger and Lillian Conant, for the weekend. Helping to welcome them home at a family gathering were Joshua's great-grandmothers, Roxie Rowe of South Paris and Dot Rand of Dixfield, his grandparents, Dan and Audrey Rand of Dixfield, his Uncle Aaron, Aunt Lorena and Jake Tyler with their son Lance from Bethel, Ava Bradbury, Charlene and David Ring and Ben Conant of South Paris, and Mary Keniston, special friend of the Conant family. A college friend of Lillian's, Sandra MacDonald, also spent the weekend. She is from Bancroft and had an exhibit, "Spring Valley Yarns," at the Sunday River Craft Fair.

Albert and Judy Hallowell of Owl's Head were weekend visitors of Lonnie and Freda Davis in West Bethel.

Jim Feeney is back home recovering well after surgery at Lahey Clinic in Burlington, Mass.

George Nickerson was startled one evening recently while standing in the front yard of his home on Kilborn Street. A large doe ran around the corner of the house, nearly colliding with him, and continued on across the street disappearing in the bushes behind the Bohr's barn.

Danna and George Nickerson were in Auburn on Sunday visiting their daughter, Kate, at CMTC. They all attended CMTC's double header baseball game against SMTC. CMTC emerged the winner in both games.

Mary Keniston is giving Ginny a break writing the Bethel column for a couple weeks.

Bethel House

by Ruth Cummings

Communion was observed Sunday, Oct. 4, at the Bethel Alliance Church. There was a good attendance. Pastor Rick's message was very nice; it was "The Torn Veil: Access Through Agony."

As usual, Judy Webster was at the piano and Peggy Mowery with the flute, providing the music for the singing. They are very good together. Lacy Phillips played her guitar and sang "In the Garden." It was great.

Eva Lane has moved from Stephens Memorial Hospital to a Rumford convalescent home.

Charlotte Cole took Robert Cole to Stephens Memorial Hospital on Oct. 1. He is in room 128 and he has pneumonia.

K.C. Denton and Shannon Sumner were both at the Bethel House recently doing maintenance work.

Jean Palanza and Jeff Dobson were at the Bethel House recently inspecting some of the apartments. Five or six apartments are inspected each year and we do not know in advance if one of the apartments will be ours or not. Mine was not one of them this year.

Because of a merger with another company, the name of Coastal Management has been changed to Portfolio Management Venture LLC. The phone number remains the same, but as the office has been moved they do have a different address. The employees will remain the same.

There will be a flu shot clinic at Preb's Pharmacy on Oct. 28 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. This is a Wednesday. If you have a Medicare B card the shot is free.

There will be a flu shot clinic at the Methodist Church on Nov. 3 and I think those hours are 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Margaret Quinlan visited Irene Russell recently.

Paul Bartlett visited his mother, Helena, recently and took her out to lunch.

Rita Davis took Irene Russell, Frances Whitman and myself on a foliage tour on Tuesday, the 6th. We rode into Andover over East B Hill and through the 13-mile woods. We had our dinner at Northlands. We all had lots of fun and the foliage was beautiful.

I have seen Eva Lane's granddaughter and she told me Eva is in the Rumford Community Home and is gaining. Her address is P.O. Box 430, Rumford, ME 04276.

Cathy Newell took me to SMH to see Bob Cole on the 7th. She also treated me to dinner at Barjo's. We had liver and onions and it certainly was good.

Rodney Hanscom also called on Bob Cole that afternoon. He invited me to go with him but Cathy had already invited me to go to dinner and then to see Bob.

In my news items last week it stated that Pastor Rick sang a lovely hymn on Thursday evening. This was wrong; he sang the hymn and played his guitar during the Sunday morning church service. Maybe he was singing hymns on Thursday evening, but I did not hear him.

Hello, Bruce, up in Anchorage. Sorry you did not get to Bethel this summer.

Alder River Grange will try for a meeting on Oct. 23 at the hall at 7:30 p.m. Jack Chappie was on vacation all of last week.

Roger and Louise Twitchell were at Fryeburg Fair on Oct. 6.

Sonny and Betty Ann Hastings have a new grandson, John Decatur, son of Ellen and Scott Franklin of Texas. Florence Hastings now has 22 great-grandchildren.

Ken and Laurie Crockett took the "Scotia Prince" to Nova Scotia one day last week.

Ken and Laurie Crockett attended the 50th birthday party for Esther Wilson at Grace Gibson's on Oct. 11.

Steve Cross got his moose, a bull. The meat spoiled before they could get it back home. All had a nice trip and saw parts of the Allagash.

Ruby Coolidge attended Tammy Mason's wedding reception and went to the Fair on Oct. 6.

Peggy Coolidge is doing well. She has been moved to a new room. Steve Wojtylski visited her recently on his way to Fryeburg Fair. He and Pam set their camper up there for the week.

Daisy Coolidge, her brother, George Sprague, and his friend, Margaret, went to the Fair on Oct. 6.

Charlene Haines and Daisy Coolidge went to Tracy Gordon's wedding on Oct. 10.

On Oct. 11, Charlene Haines and Daisy Coolidge went to the 50th birthday party for Esther Wilson at Grace Gibson's. There was a large turnout of family and friends to wish Esther a happy 50th.

The leaves seem to be much brighter now that we have had some rain.

North Newry

by
Gil Seeley

Call to Worship at the Newry Community Church was held Sunday morning at 9 a.m. with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The Message of the Day was "Count your Blessings" from Psalms 115:13; "He Will Bless them that fear the Lord, both small and great." The service opened with a prelude by the pastor and hymn singing; responsive reading by Bob Munro; a special by Gil Seeley, "The Meaning of God"; "God is able to do more than man can understand, there is no leaf, no twig, no worm of the earth, no spire of grass, wherein we see not, the footsteps of God"; a prayer, followed and communion; benediction and postlude.

The Windy Valley Sno-mobile Club met Tuesday night at 7 p.m. at the Town Building with Owen Wright presiding. Secretary Sylvia Harrington read the notes of the last meeting and took new ones during the evening. Treasurer Bob Lowell brought the finances up to date and took in some dues. There was no bad report from the safety director, Eric Wight. Trail repairs will start next week. Coffee, cider and goodies were enjoyed during the meeting. Sylvia and Bill Wight reported on their trip. The next meeting will be Nov. 3, 7 p.m., at Sylvia and Bill's residence. The meeting was adjourned.

Karlene Bachelder, Gil Seeley, Eleanor Davis and Doris Parent were at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford one day last week bowling for fun. On the first string, Karlene beat Gil by three pins. On the second string, Gil beat Doris by six pins. On the third string, Karlene and Gil tied, beating Doris by only two pins. So on the overall scores, Gil was high on the triples but tied with Karlene on the singles. Gil had one spare, Karlene one spare, Eleanor one spare and Doris one spare.

NOTICE

OPERATION OF 4X4 VEHICLES ALONG PIPELINE RIGHT OF WAY

Portland Pipe Line Corporation owns three pipelines that transport crude oil and natural gas between Portland, Maine and the Province of Quebec. A portion of the pipelines is buried in a common right of way that traverses the State of Maine. The pipelines, which operate at high pressures, are protected by an exterior coating material and an impressed current cathodic protection system to protect the pipelines from external corrosion. In recent years we have encountered an occasional, but very serious, problem with 4x4 vehicles entering the right of way without obtaining permission from the landowners and driving the vehicles through muddy & wet areas. These vehicles have severely damaged short sections of the pipeline right of way and the underground Pipeline facilities. The damage that has been done by the vehicles could potentially cause a pipeline leak and jeopardize the safety of people in the surrounding area and damage the environment.

The pipeline right of way, which is identified by signs, is leased from landowners along the pipeline route. Our agreement with the landowners allows the landowner to utilize the property for uses that are compatible with the safe operation of the pipeline. The agreement precludes constructing permanent structures, paved parallel roads, unauthorized digging, logging or heavy machinery traffic that could damage the pipeline, its protective coating, or the cathodic protection system. Driving OFF-ROAD vehicles through wet or muddy areas of the pipeline right of way could damage the pipeline facilities and cannot be permitted.

The dirt lane roads that exist on much of the right of way are located on private property that is utilized by the landowner and the Pipe Line for local access. Driving on these dirt lanes without permission constitutes trespassing.

Federal regulations (DOT 49-CFR-192/195) require pipeline personnel to complete aerial and ground patrols to verify the integrity of the pipelines and to maintain the condition of the right of way in case access is required for maintenance repairs, to respond to an emergency situation, and to ensure the safe operation of the facilities.

This matter has been reviewed with the Maine State Police, and future incidents of unauthorized vehicles traveling the right of way and jeopardizing the safety of the pipeline will be reported to the Maine State Police for enforcement action.

Portland Pipe Line Corporation believes these incidents were not intended to be malicious and hopes that this advertisement will inform people of the danger involved in driving 4x4 vehicles on the pipeline right of way.

Please call PORTLAND PIPE LINE CORPORATION COLLECT at 207-767-3231 or the MAINE STATE POLICE at 1-800-482-0730 to report any incidents.

Mason Township

by Richard Grover
This week I planned to do an article about an unusual fund-raising project undertaken by the women of the West Bethel Union Church and those of the Pleasant Valley Grange. Constance Broadbent is one of the women who belong to both organizations; she offered to write the story for me. Here it is:

Dear Richard: Thanks for the opportunity to tell our story of enterprise. We are proud of what we accomplished and we're happy to explain "what we did on our summer vacation."

In late spring of this year, a group of women of the Ladies Chapel Aid of the West Bethel Union Church listened to a proposal from their president, Nancy Grover, that the group purchase the inventory of a North Conway fabric shop that was going out of business.

We were intrigued with the idea of a major fundraising project to benefit the church, but soon agreed that the church lacked the space necessary for the venture. This was where "part B" of the proposal came in: "Let's see if we can make a deal with the Pleasant Valley Grange, which has the space, right in the same village, to set up shop in their dining hall and give them a hefty cut of the 'take' in return."

Sitting in on that meeting of church ladies were a number of members of said grange who quickly saw the efficacy of such a venture. We discussed the details, pondered the possibilities, and decided to enter into the project with enthusiasm, provided that we could convince our members that this would be a good enterprise that would benefit both groups simultaneously.

At the next grange meeting we, the church/grange women, presented our case; the grange body agreed to the plan, and a part-time fabric store was born. We enlisted the help of a few hardy husbands, rented a truck and trekked over the mountains to get the goods. As eager entrepreneurs, we loaded the hundreds of bolts of cloth, the zillions of zippers, the numerous notions, and headed for home with the booty. Back at the grange hall we worked as a team to drag, haul, or carry the precious cargo into the building.

A few days hence, the church/grange team gathered again this time to sort through the bulky bolts of fabric, eventually dividing it into categories -- cottons, blend, panels, remnants, and odd mixes. We stacked them accordingly on nine tables in the dining room, re-priced each item, created a cutting area and a cashier space, painted an eye-catching sign for the roadside, put an ad in the paper, and opened the doors on the Fourth-of-July weekend. The plan was to open up on Fridays and Saturdays for a month or so to "test the waters."

The first days of operation found us greeting customers with pleasantries and enthusiasm. The word quickly spread, and women (and occasional male patrons) flocked to the "store" that was offering wonderful bargains. The prior owner of the yard goods had suggested that we mark everything at half of her listed price. This we did, and quilters and other sewers couldn't resist the "lure of the linen," so to speak.

SALES & SERVICE
1110 S. 10th St. (at 10th & 11th) (207) 349-9312

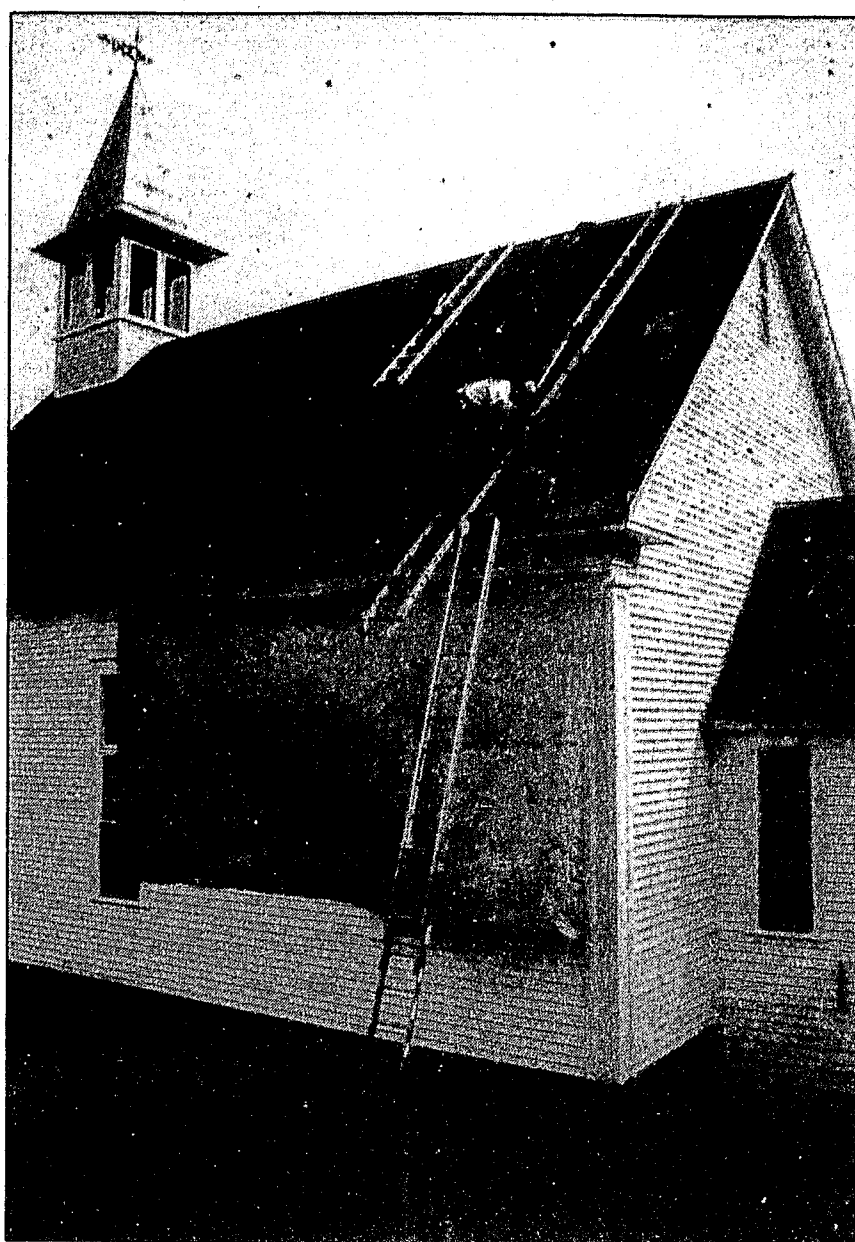

With a very successful first outing under our belts, we continued to gather on Fridays and Saturdays, to sell our wares and to continue a camaraderie that was born of the hours of cooperation and of the taste of success. We quickly adapted to our roles of cutters, helpers, "customer service reps," cashiers. We took our assignment seriously, but there was a continual banter, chatter, and pleasant interchange with the customers who stopped by.

With the waters sufficiently tested as sales continued to add up slowly but steadily, we decided to carry on throughout the summer. We managed to earn back the initial and somewhat hefty investment by the mid point, and somehow our energy and enthusiasm continued unflagged as we were inspired with the notion of profits at last.

As we greeted and cut and kibitzed, we learned that most of the women who came through our door had the same passion for collecting cloth that we brought to the project. Time after time, if we asked a customer what she planned to make with her chosen fabrics, she would answer, "I don't have a clue. I just love the material." We would happily agree with her motive, and happily slice the print or the panel into the length that she wanted.

There was one special encounter in our enterprise. A lady from Gorham, N.H., came in one day looking for material appropriate for baby quilts. We soon learned (because we also asked lots of questions of our visitors) that she was working on the production of crib-size quilts for babies born with the AIDS virus. She had learned of a nationwide project to supply the unfortunate infants with attractive quilts that served to keep them warm and later to wrap them in for their eternal rest, if necessary.

By the end of the first visit, we had decided to propose a similar project to our sisters in common, and we listened with awe as our new friend, Jenny, described the many quilts that she had completed. She had enlisted the financial help of friends and family, and visited us several more times to stock up on material for her "works of mercy." The last time that we saw her, Jenny announced that she had completed more than one hundred tiny quilts, and she brought one in for us to admire, along with yummy cookies for us to enjoy with our coffee. Needless to say, Jenny was a particular inspiration to those of us who love to create good works with needles and thread. She also showed us what could be accomplished with a project once it became a commitment. She wished us a great winter, assured us that she would be sewing even more quilts, and expressed a desire to see us in the spring. We look forward to her visit.

A week or two ago, we "Sew and Sews," as we came to call ourselves, spent two days packing and hauling the fabric up the stairs to the storeroom for the winter. We were pleased with our production, pleasantly surprised by our profits, and weary of the long hours that we had put in. But in spite of the hours volunteered, the intensity of the labor, and the scope of the commitment, we all agreed that the project was not only worthwhile, but that the "return" on our investment of energy, time, and finances was worth the investment.

Our "store" is "Closed For The Season." Many of us will spend the winter creating all manner of items from the materials that now rest in our own closets. We admit that many of us were our own best customers, but we couldn't resist! And once again, some day in late spring of next year, we will dust off the inventory, put up the displays and the signs, and open the doors with an eye to further reducing our inventory as we welcome new friends to our "place of business."

The project has proved that we can cooperate, collaborate, and conquer obstacles as we work as a unit to provide a service to the community and provide an opportunity to grow in friendship and spirit. We will continue to serve as we learn from the Jennys who pass through our portals. We look forward to seeing former and new "browsers" in the spring. And meanwhile, "We'll see you in church, Richard. Love, C.B."

About the Business Person who Doesn't Advertise...

This person wakes up in the morning to the sound of an advertised alarm clock, climbs out of his advertised bed, and takes off his advertised pajamas. Then he takes a bath in an advertised tub, with advertised soap, shaves with an advertised razor, eats an advertised breakfast food, puts on his advertised clothes and drives to work in his advertised car. He then sits at an advertised desk and writes with an advertised pen. Yet this man doesn't advertise - saying that advertising does not pay.

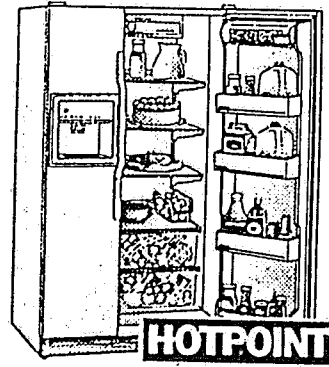

Eventually, when his unadvertised business goes under, he will advertise it for sale!

Andover

by Tina Farrington
The Andover Historical Society will hold an Open House at both the Town Office building and the East Andover School on Sunday, Oct. 18, from 1 to 4 p.m. The Open House will feature items on Andover buildings, such as hotels, stores, schools, etc. If you would like to share items for the Open House, they can be dropped off between 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Anthony Poole of Valrico, Fla., spent a few days with her father, Floyd Emerson Sr. and enjoyed the fall foliage and visiting old friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Jon Thurston and Cheryl of Farmington have moved in with his grandmother, Mrs. Walter Jodrey, for the winter.

Sherman Maddix recently moved to South Paris, where his mother, Mae Maddix of East Andover, will soon join him.

The Andover Elementary School held Hat Day on Oct. 14. The next meeting of the Andover Parent Teacher group (APT) will meet Tuesday, Oct. 27. On the agenda is reviewing of the surveys turned in and from that input, formulate goals for the year. For more information, contact Kelly Scotti, APT president at 392-1681.

Rally Day at the Calvary Congregational Church was held last Sunday with the Howe's Gospel Team sharing their ministry of flannel graph stories and music. Attendance was terrific and a wonderful fellowship dinner was enjoyed after the service.

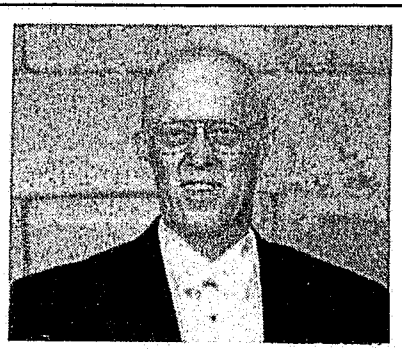

The Kaleidoscope group will meet again this season. I didn't make the connection to get all the information, but please contact Mary Zurhurst or Ann Marie Mahar for details. This is an exciting group of fun and sharing which meets weekly at the CEB for youngsters.

Mrs. Phyllis Spaulding recently visited her granddaughter, Sabrina, born Sept. 10, weighing 8 pounds, 4 ounces. Parents are Brian Spaulding and Michelle Doane of Bangor. Great-grandmother is Natalie Littlehale.

On Oct. 4, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Emerson Jr. entertained at a family gathering in honor of Mrs. Marjorie Jodrey's 80th birthday and Mr. Floyd Emerson Sr.'s 81st birthday at a luncheon and barbecue, which was enjoyed by all. A birthday cake was made by Mrs. Merilee Thurston. Family histories were discussed and brought up to date on deaths, marriages and some divorces. Go-cart rides and Fat Cat rides were enjoyed by the younger group. Family pictures were taken by Mrs. Anthony Poole, Forest Emerson and Merilee Thurston.

Those attending were: Judy and Joe Couture of Oakland; Bud and Jackie Gates of Augusta; Bobby, Andy and William Brewer of Boothbay; Tracey, Katie and Greg Worthley of Boothbay; Robbie Emerson of Boothbay and children David of Boothbay and Cory and Nicky of Bethel; Mike and Casey Emerson and friend of Berlin, N.H.; David McKemmer of Rumford Point; Frank Emerson and sons, Forest and Justin of York; Mrs. Anthony Poole of Valrico, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Rex Thurston and sons Kurt and Josh; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Thurston, Amanda and Steven; Mr. and Mrs. Jon Thurston and Cheryl Ann; Mrs. Ruth Montgomery; and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Emerson and sons Frank and Mark. Calls were received by the birthday guests from Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Purcell, Mrs. Maggie Humphrey, Melissa Octavia Poole, Medea Poole, Mrs. Louise Emerson, Mrs. Delore Emerson and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Barnett. A great time in remembering the past was had by all.

Colwyn Haskell

HONORED BY MASONS—Colwyn Haskell of Bethel was among a group of 140 local Freemasons selected to receive the Thirty-third Degree, the highest honor of Scottish Rite Freemasonry. A ceremony took place recently in Cincinnati during the annual meeting of the Scottish Rite Supreme Council. The degree is awarded for outstanding service to Freemasonry or for significant contributions to humanity that reflect credit upon the fraternity. The 1998 recipients were chosen from 15 northeastern and midwestern states that comprise the 320,000-member Northern Jurisdiction of the U.S. Haskell is a retired production engineer for Mead Paper Co.

Greenwood City

by Colista Morgan
Many times I have taken the path to the hill beyond where I live. Again this week I strolled where red, gold and flaming trees stood silent. Acorns crunched beneath my feet. I found a quiet place to view the beauty.

Each tree wore gypsy ribbons in her hair, while the murmuring breezes were tattling to the leaves that fell like bits of calico beside the pond. They floated with the ducks out into midstream. They seemed like dreams wrapped in clouds as they drifted slowly away and vanished from sight.

"A lovely carpet 'neath my feet/Is now formed by autumn leaves/With color scattered everywhere/In the choicest pattern weaves." — Ruth Underhill

I followed October's trail across a field hoping to view all the mountains and ponds. The pines were stately, guarding trees bedecked in their gorgeous robes. The sky was azure blue and a few clouds floated by. So I stood and looked at this wind-blown hill and at these mountains afar, where the grandest artist had been at work with magic brush and dyes. Here and there some trees had resisted the beckoning call and were still emerald green stubbornly trying to tell us that summer was only yesterday. The sumacs stood like proud sentinels with reddish purple plumes in their caps. I purposely shuffled along in the deepest colors, so that I could hear the chattering of the crisp parchment-like leaves rustle beneath my feet.

I took pictures under October's smiling sun.

The old stone wall was the best companion. Along its course I wandered with safe assurance of a pleasant seat to rest upon and muse in the glow of sunlight.

Again, I had gathered the sights and sounds of autumn to keep in my memory.

Eleanor Inman entertained 13 members of the Forward Fellowship of the West Paris Universalist Church at her home on Monday evening. The ladies enjoyed a potluck supper, followed by a business meeting, to plan for their fall fair and annual chicken supper.

Gerald Stevens of Kentucky was in town last week. He visited me one afternoon. He lived and went to school here. I was pleased to see him.

Several members of Rena Curtis' family called on her last week.

Milton and Eleanor Inman are working at the Fryeburg Fair for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. David Holt of Norway were at their parents' home on Sunday.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson
Hi readers. Have you people been to the famous Fryeburg Fair? It sure is a big one and a lot of walking — unless you just sit and play Beano. I did a little bit of both on Tuesday and saw a lot of people to chat with. It was a real nice, sunny day — cold but nice. We went over and saw Clyde Millett's nice steers. They had won a lot of ribbons, which were pinned up over their stalls. They always do well.

On Thursday evening, Oct. 1, the electric power went off for four hours disrupting the church supper here, but a generator was brought in and they got served well. Everyone got their nice New England boiled dinner and everyone I've talked with said it was very good. I'm glad my pies were made ahead of time, and the outside charcoal grill comes in handy in these times of power outage.

Several people from around here are working out to the Fryeburg Fair. It makes a good job for them at this time of year. This is Fire Prevention Week and Stoneham Fire Department did very well at the Firemen's Muster on Sunday at Fryeburg.

Albert Jr. and Eric Nelson and friend Bill Birney went to Lake Molunkus and had good luck in getting a nice, big 550-pound moose on the first day of moose hunting. Several others from the surrounding area got theirs, too. The meat-processing people have been quite busy.

This is a sad time for many people who have been working at the shoe shop in Fryeburg as it is in the process of closing down. Kathy Adams and many others have been working there for many years. It will mean quite a change for many workers who have always done this type of work.

Members of the Knights of Pythias, Hiawatha Lodge, have been in the process of obtaining and setting up a new wood stove for the hall. This was much needed.

Mrs. Geneva Tripp has received word that her granddaughter and husband, Robert and Michelle Reugebrinks of Calpine, Calif., have a new son and his name is Winston Marshall. He was born Sept. 14. He was born with respiratory distress and was in intensive care for six days but is home now with his parents and brother Preston. Winston's grandparents are Les and Carole Davis of Sattley, Calif.

I'm sure Andrea Wing must have been surprised to learn her shoulder is getting better, etc., a couple of weeks ago. Anyhow, I found my column with her name and picture heading it. It must have surprised some folks, or confused them.

On Sept. 8, Brent Lake went to Portland to prepare to be sworn into the Air Force. Al and Crystal met Brent at the MEPS building on Sept. 9 and were able to see him being sworn in and met him at the airport later to see him fly off to Texas. Brent's basic training is at Lackland AFB in San Antonio, Texas. Al, Crystal and Jess Perry (Brent's girlfriend) will be flying to Texas to see him graduate from basic training on Oct. 23 and to spend a couple days with him before he begins schooling on aerospace jet propulsion.

Andy had just remarked the day before that he had never seen a moose with a full rack, when early the next morning he saw one standing in the road below the house. "Ask and ye shall receive," the Bible says! Barbara and Ken Wakefield said they had seen the tracks but have not yet seen the moose.

The Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary met Monday evening with Denise Swan, Margaret Ring, Sally Melville, Veronica Penley, Cheryl Young and Mary Stone in attendance. The craft fair was set for Nov. 14 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Fire Station. Call 875-3265, 875-2033 or 875-2168 to reserve a table, same price as last year. Anyone caring to donate food or crafts to the Greenwood Auxiliary table is invited to do so. It will be appreciated.

Denise Swan says they saw a moose walking through their neighborhood at four in the afternoon. I hope he will stay out of the range of the hunters. Since they can't shoot them in town, I guess he's smart to hang around.

By the time everyone reads this I hope to be in the middle of a few days with my daughter, Marcia Smith, of Presque Isle. Now that she's working, it isn't so easy to schedule a visit. She hasn't been home for an extended visit since our wedding last year.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

You all know what a wringing-wet weekend it was, so I will not expound on its dismal qualities. We had planned a lot of yard work and outside work, that proved to be nothing but a washout. There was a bright side — what you can't do outside you can do inside. So, I set myself into some inside projects. That was also a washout, as I soon lost interest. The road to hell is paved with good intentions. I accomplished nothing.

Saturday, Sue Nelson, Tara Murphy, her daughter, Ginny Williamson and I headed down through Grafton Notch to the Blue Mountain Arts Festival at Sunday River. We look forward to this event every fall on Columbus Day weekend. The horrible weather did not keep the crowd away from the craft fair. It was mobbed. The first table we encountered was Norm and Ellie Davis' gem and mineral display, which is always very interesting. Helen Ann Morton's art display was next in line and her many beautiful paintings were a pleasure to behold. There were many good displays of arts and crafts.

This week gave us two new sponsors of the Bell Tower Fund. Larry Enman donated in memory of his mother, Katherine Wight, Ban Barnett, and Lila Barnett. Gerald and Ardella Fuller Gallant donated in memory of the Fuller Family from East "B" Hill. The Fuller family resided there many years ago. I'm sure their ancestors would be very proud of being remembered by these good people. The Friends of the Upton Church thank them for their generosity.

The birds of the week were a flock of hooded mergansers in the cove. I would be remiss in not mentioning the beautiful, but greedy, Canada jays. Those fellows can empty the peanut butter feeder in five minutes. We have lots of chickadees, doves, finches, and a pair of rose breasted nuthatches.

Clyde and Barbara Stratton are visiting their camp on Birch Point. Although many people do not winterize their camps any more, they still must drain pipes, etc.

There are quite a few bird hunters in town. The Corcoran brothers and friends are here for their annual visit. Their father, Dan Corcoran, hunted birds in Upton for many years.

Lucille and Earl Largesse have bagged another moose with their car. This has become a semi-annual event on Route 26. Neither Earl nor Lucille were injured, but their beautiful car was totaled. While traveling home from work in the dark the moose hazard is an ever-present risk.

Marie Aron is coaching the second and third soccer team on Tuesday afternoons. Marie volunteers a lot for the children. Upton girls on the team are Jen Aldrich, Lisa Aron and Michelle Aron.

Last week the school celebrated Grandparents' Day. Parents' Open House was observed Oct. 7. This was a good time for teachers, parents and children to participate in school projects. The children are looking forward to a Halloween parade in Bethel on the 30th of October. The children attended the Fryeburg Fair last week while their teachers attended a workshop.

Anita and Bill Harris hosted a "Jeep" Drive-in on Saturday at their cottage on Mill Road. Mark Sullivan, their grandson, was a member of the Jeep Jamboree, an annual event. A spaghetti dinner was served to the guests. The "Jeepers" presented the Harris with a thank-you gift in return for their hospitality.

My closing thought this week is, "Let there be light." Daylight Savings Time will end soon enough.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing

Sympathy goes out to the family and friends of Leroy Kennison, who passed away recently. Leroy spent his young years in South Woodstock on the road where I live. He will be missed by all who knew him.

Grandparents' Day found Tommy Poland at Crescent Park School visiting her great-grandchildren, Shea, Bailey and Emma Davis, and her grandchildren twins, Ken and Brook Grover. They had a good time showing her around their classes and showing projects they had done.

Grandparents' Day also found Claribel Poland at Woodstock Elementary School in Bryant Pond visiting with her great-grandchildren, Jayme and Randi Mack. They are always glad to have her come to see where they go to school.

Rosalie Poland has had her knee replacement surgery at Maine Medical Center and has had to stay a couple of days longer than she expected. Hopefully, by the time you read this she'll be home and feeling better.

Bruce and Cindy Clements of Weare, N.H., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Kyle Clinton, born on Sept. 18 and weighing a little over eight pounds. Paternal grandparents are from South Woodstock and are Nick and Marta Clements. Kyle joins a sister, Sarah.

Eric Poland, with help from his grandfather, David Ellingwood, got a cow moose the first day of hunting. Eric is in the eighth grade at Oxford Hills. Tim Poland, Phelps Poland, Wayne Ross and Eric's father, Todd Poland, all went along for the trip. They all stayed at David's camp.

One Saturday recently, Brandon Dunn was in a baby race at the South Portland Mall. Brandon was the winner by a mile! They had a portion of the race on TV that evening, which I watched. Brandon is about eight months old and is the son of John and Diane (Poland) Dunn. He is also my great-nephew.

Winter must be on its way, as the MDOT crew is getting its winter sand ready for slippery roads.

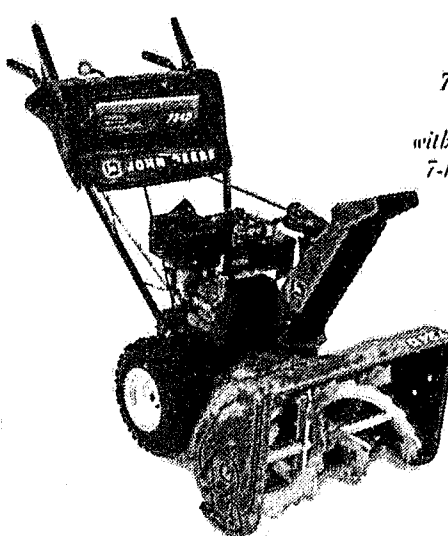

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that horsepower is something that was much safer when only horses had it."

Fred loves cold weather and the winter months that go with it. I get depressed when the dark and frigid air surrounds me. Recently, my son mentioned going to the fair and how my parents were camping for the week so they could take in all the activities and not have to drive home late at night. Fred thought this was the greatest idea since sliced bread, so I got on the horn and called for a space. Because we were late, there was nothing left for the entire week except for the last row across the road in the Fairview Camping Area.

We decided this was too far away for kids and us to walk. Fred said we'd take his tent and find a place down back in the parking lot. The first night we stayed it registered 22 degrees on the Fahrenheit scale in Fryeburg. It was cold enough for Fred that night. I had refused to sleep in a tent -- we borrowed Rodney's pickup and Carol's camper. My mom had forewarned me and suggested that Fred sleep next to the window over the cab where it got quite cool. This was sure to make Fred contented. Poor Fred didn't sleep the first two cold nights as he had to toss and turn to keep front and back warm throughout the night doing the "rotisserie wiggle."

Thanks, mom. Whenever Fred and I travel you can be sure we will get involved with food and animals. And what better place to get your needs met than the Fryeburg Fair. We ate more hot sausage and fries than I care to mention and coffee that kept us running and hunting for change. I met the Organic Engineer at work surveying the removal of animal waste outside the Show Pony Barn. We learned that the animals produce 600 tons of organic material, which gets moved down back and spread on the green areas each spring.

The wet weather transformed the weekend into a pseudo-safari with dangers such as "quickmanure" and natives. Some tribes carried multi-speared objects over their heads which one had to dodge at every turn so as not to get skewered. Some of the subjects were clearly not native as they dressed funny in purple and pink rubber clothing and were afraid of the domestic animals. Many of these foreigners were seen carrying their fancy speared-objects open right through the barns. We felt good about our ability to get by with no spears, no rubber clothes, no rubber shoes and little rest for the whole weekend. We are true adventurers.

I apologize for missing last week's column, but I developed a massive ear infection which robbed me of my sleep and left me screaming in the night. I am now looking for a new primary care provider. Anyone know a good one who actually listens to patients?

Perhaps it was the pain, or just my ornery nature, but I've found myself getting annoyed lately at the constant barrage of leaf peepers who find it necessary to walk through my yard. I know that if I returned the favor, they would call the police. It's not like these people are shooting guns, only cameras go off. Like I said, I've been ornery lately. It rained last week, big wet drops fell incessantly. Paths were transformed into puddles and rivulets, puddles into ponds. The parched earth became mounds of quicksand like mud ready to swallow unsuspecting cars, leaving drivers low and wet.

I watched the rain from beside the fireplaces of Camp Winona where I attended the Maine Writers' and Publishers' Alliance Fall Retreat. I drove through the mud and tramped through the puddles, amazed at the warmth of the wet October days. It was great to be in a gathering of over 60 people, mostly from all over Maine, and to know that every person there is a writer. I went to the poetry workshop and 10 of us (plus the leader) sat around and critiqued each other's work. It was awesome. We didn't leave with finished poems, but rather ideas for revisions. Now the real work begins. With the advent of the sun looming on the horizon, I am anxious to do some outside work. More wood needs to come into the barn. The garden must be put to bed -- except the kale, brussels sprouts and carrots, still growing gaily. There is also more bondo to do on my car -- touch up of patches and one spot I missed altogether. I only need one day of warm sun for that. For the wood, I'd like to let it sit in the sun to dry for awhile before I bring it in for the winter.

Tasha's ready for a new hike in the sun. She's been home far too much as of late. Perhaps next weekend will be sunny. For now, I'm just glad to empty the buckets and look forward to my clothes drying on the line.

High School Varsity Field Hockey

Telstar 7, Waynflete 0; Oct. 9--Malinda Gilbert and Mary Ann Lowe each had two goals, and Stephanie Vaughan, Erica Gundersen and Jaime Grover had one each in a win over Waynflete. Lowe, Staci Littlehale and Angie Buker had assists. Rebel goalkeeper Emily Phillips had three saves.

Gould 2, Waynflete 0; Oct. 7--Caroline Riss had a breakaway at mid-field to score Gould's first goal against Waynflete. Chelsey Bartlett scored a goal off an assist by Riley Hansen. Strong defense allowed Waynflete only four shots on goal, and Amanda Barrett's great goal-keeping preserved the shutout.

Varsity Golf

Gould 6, Elan 1; Oct. 6--Gould traveled to the Fairlawn Golf Course to play Elan. Gould played a very consistent match and won with a final score of 6-1. Playing especially well were Chris Buckley, Matt Lewis, Colin Bedell-Healy, Rob Liscombe, and Dan Coffey.

Mountain Valley Conference Championship Tournament; Oct. 7--The team sent Captain Chris Buckley, Chris Liberti, and Max Otte to Natanis Golf Course as guests of the Mountain Valley Conference in their championship tournament. All three players had a good day and finished in the first half. Max Otte, however, had one exceptional hole that propelled him into the Oct. 17 state Tournament. Max went to the 18th tee of the 250-yard, par 4 hole with a score of 84 total shots. He hit the drive of a lifetime and scored a double eagle, hole-in-one to become the last qualifier with a final score of 85. The team would like to acknowledge and thank Telstar Golf Coach Jim Lunney for his help in obtaining the tournament invitation.

Cross Country

Bridgton Meet--Individual Results; Oct. 10--Gould sophomore Annie Kennett, competing in a steady downpour against runners from Elan School, Kents Hill School, Hebron Academy, Bridgton Academy, and Hyde School, finished second overall for women in a meet at Bridgton. Freshman Erika Hoddinott of Wayne took fifth place for women, and Evan Daigneault of East Boothbay, also a freshman, was fifth overall for men.

High School Boys' Varsity Soccer

Telstar 5, Jay 0; Oct. 13--Jeremy Curley scored twice and Chris Vaughan, David Ojeda and Dan Zinchuk each had one goal as Telstar defeated Jay. Ramsey Harrington had two assists and Curley and Jason Poirier one each. Goalkeeper Bob Bean had nine saves.

Boys' J.V. Soccer

Gould 0, N.Y.A. 0; Oct. 7--Gould and North Yarmouth fought their way to a scoreless tie, allowing Gould to preserve its undefeated record. Said coach Brett Shifrin, "The team played exceptionally well. We moved the ball into space and created several good scoring opportunities, but the soccer gods did not shine on us."

Girls' Varsity Soccer

Gould 2, C.V.A. 1; Oct. 7--Alice Powlen took a cross in front of the net from Megan Flaherty at the right sideline to score Gould's first goal, and Kendrah White, with an assist from Kate Warner, added a nicely lofted shot from the 18 yard line as Gould outshot Carrabasset Valley 28 to 6 in a 2-1 victory. Excellent passing and notable play by Fern Hickey and Laura Jenks contributed to the win, which improved Gould's record to 6-0.

Equestrian Competition

Oct. 10--Gould's riders rode in their first show at Esprit Equestrian Center in Durham on Sunday, bringing home several ribbons and excellent scores. Meg Hammond, Anna Clark, Alex Strong, Elizabeth Burton, and Scott Roy all competed in the wet weather and, according to coach Lucia Owen, "are to be congratulated for their good spirits and sportsmanship."

HANDLE WITH CARE
Jim Dill, a University of Maine entomologist, brought a menagerie of insects and other animals -- including this African Pygmy Hedgehog -- to Crescent Park School recently. Here, children in Mary Dunton's first grade have a look at the balled-up hedgehog. Eventually, the animal overcame her shyness and had a look at them, too. (Photo by Aloisio)

Crescent Park School PTA

The CPS PTA met on Wednesday, Sept. 30, with 26 parents and teachers present in the CPS cafeteria.

The secretary's minutes and treasurer's report were circulated and accepted with the exception of Kelly Merrill stepping down from her position as tri-president.

Principal David Murphy commented about the wonderfully smooth start the school had this year. The enrollment stayed the same but the faces changed.

The fifth-graders' Leadership Training at the Maine Conservation School was a success. They worked on team building and leadership. Grandparents' Day was Oct. 2. There is a new bumper sticker in the works.

Open House will be Oct. 7 from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Mr. Murphy stressed the fact that it is a social evening for parents to roam around the school.

Curriculum packets have been sent home, which cover the four discipline areas. If there is any feedback, please let the principal know.

The Technology committee is putting on an ITV presentation to kick off the commissioners' "Technology in Schools."

The Craft Fair is Nov. 7 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Posters were available to take and put up in the community. The school will be working on having a room representative from every classroom.

Parent-Teacher Conference Day is one long event from 10:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. The trade-off is that the school will have a half day the day before Thanksgiving.

There is $3,000 for playground equipment from the 1997 May Fair that is being looked into for spending wisely on swings and a "ball wall."

The monies from the 1998 May Fair will be used for the Missoula Theatre Company. In January the students may audition for parts in this after-school program. The proceeds go to Mahoosuc Arts and the PTA.

Robin Mills said that the Harvest Fair sales netted a couple hundred dollars for the PTA.

The Halloween night festivities will be canceled this year because Halloween falls on a Saturday. It will be revisited next year and discussion has been held about only having the trick-or-treat night when Halloween falls on a Monday through Friday. The parties and parade will still be held.

PTA meetings will be held the last Wednesday of the month.

Principal Murphy welcomed the new staff members and plants were passed out. Welcomed were Mary Merrill, Marilyn Hamel, Mark Kenney, Nina Santora, Carla Phillips, Rose Sumner, Leslie Rosenberg, and Carol Stuart.

From the U.M. Coop. Extension

The Oxford County Extension annual meeting will be held Thursday, Oct. 22, at the First Congregational Church in South Paris. Registration will begin at 6 p.m., with the dinner and program at 6:30 p.m. Please make reservations for dinner (baked ham) by mailing payment ($6.50 per person) to the Oxford County Extension Office, 9 Olson Road, South Paris, ME 04281-6402, by Oct. 15.

Lois Berg Stack, horticultural specialist, will present a program on "New Flowers for Maine Gardens."

From the

Bethel Area C. of C.

All members and friends of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce are invited to attend the annual meeting and social to be held Monday, Oct. 19, from 5:45 to 8 p.m. at the Bethel Inn & Country Club. The agenda will include: election of the 1999 Board of Directors, recognition of the outgoing board members, committee chair reports and small group breakouts to encourage chamber members to offer their ideas. Refreshments/hors d'oeuvres will be available. All members will be receiving a written slate of the 1999 Proposed Board of Directors in the mail Friday or Saturday.

The chamber's annual brochure is going to the printers this week. We would like to thank all those businesses who support this publication through their ads, the contributing photographers and all those members who have offered their suggestions for improving this important guide to our area. We will have the "finished product" by the middle of November.

The chamber is still seeking volunteers for the Boston Ski show, Nov. 12 to 15. We offer a transportation reimbursement for those who can spend two days at the show. It is held at the Bayside Exposition Hall. Please call the office if you would like to help.

Members -- please watch for mailings regarding the Taste of Bethel and the Theme Wreath Auction, scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 5, to be held at the Bethel Inn Conference Center. These have been very successful events in the past and we hope that continues. The proceeds from this helps to pay for the Christmas decorations and provides a scholarship to a graduate of Telstar Regional High School seeking a career in the culinary arts.

All members are encouraged to plan an event in their business on the weekend of Jan. 9 and 10, during the Bethel Winter Fest '99. The chamber is planning to print a beautiful brochure promoting the weekend, and it is willing to help promote all businesses doing something special during those two days. Please call the chamber office at 824-2282 with a 25-word description of the "special event" before Oct. 31.

This week at the

Moses Mason House

The first annual Bethel Historical Society Apple Festival was held on Saturday, Oct. 10, at the Dr. Moses Mason House and in a tent on the side lawn of the Hastings Homestead on Broad Street. Despite the heavy rain, the brave and the hearty made it to see a cider-pressing demonstration by Dean Walker. An all-apple food sale was also held and there were a number of gift items for sale -- all celebrating the wondrous apple, which has been part of the New England tradition since the earliest days. There also was a blind apple toss and several managed to score and win prizes. Hope Tibbetts demonstrated dried apple doll making next to the fire in the Dr. Moses Mason House meeting room. At 4:30 p.m., there was the "apple-tude adjustment hour" where apple wood was crackling in the fireplace of the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House and all kinds of apple treats were available for those attending. Peggy Wight won the drawing for the apple tile.

Much credit for the success of the event goes to the many volunteers for the capital campaign who made it possible: Susan Herlihy, Priscella Walker, Walter Hatch, Jackie Van Leuven, Lois Kilroy, Lorrie Hoeh, and Nancy Morris.

From the

Bethel Town Office

The Bethel Pathway and Bridge Committee is researching accidents and incidents over the years involving pedestrian, bicycle, and snowmobile safety on the Route 2 bridge over the Androscoggin River. This information will be presented with a grant application to the Maine Department of Transportation for an engineering design and feasibility study for a free-standing, multi-use bridge upstream from the existing one. Unreported incidents or "close calls" are just as important to safety as reported accidents. They document the need to solve a traffic safety problem that exists for non-vehicular use of the bridge. More importantly, they can help predict the kinds of accident potential that should be addressed during design and engineering work.

The Pathway and Bridge Committee would appreciate knowing about any experience you may have had, either as a driver or out on the bridge, that you would consider a close call. Please describe the time of day, season, road conditions, visibility, traffic congestion, and any other relevant information. This can be sent or called in to me at the Bethel Town Office, P.O. Box 108, Bethel, ME 04217 -- 824-2669. Any "close calls" appearing as a letter to the editor in the Bethel Citizen will also be clipped.

Obituaries

ROBERT S. COLE

Robert S. Cole, 91, of Bethel, died Friday night, Oct. 9, 1998, at Stephens Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient.

Born in Greenwood on Sept. 6, 1907, he was the son of the late Stanton R. and Clara A. (Cole) Cole. He received his education from the Greenwood schools.

He married the former Ella Hanscom in May 1927; she predeceased him in 1970. He later married the former Edna Young in October 1970; she also predeceased him in 1973.

Mr. Cole worked as a machine tender at the E.L. Tebbets Spool Company and later as a fork lift operator at the Ekco Housewares, Inc., both of Locks Mills. After retiring from Ekco Housewares, he worked at Mt. Abram Ski Resort as a lift operator.

A member of the Locke Mills Union Church, he also held membership in the Locke Mills Men's Club, Franklin Grange 124 of Bryant Pond, and was a 50-year member of the Knights of Pythias of Bryant Pond, serving as chancellor commander for five years.

An avid gardener, he enjoyed playing cards, and following baseball, especially the Red Sox.

He most especially enjoyed his small farm on Howe Hill and visiting friends and sharing history of days gone by, usually about the happenings of Locke Mills, which he always considered his hometown even though he had resided in Bethel for close to 20 years.

Survivors include two stepsons, Donald Young of La Mesa, Calif., and Loren Young of Jacksonville, Fla., and several nieces and nephews, along with a special cousin, Charlotte Cole of Greenwood. He was predeceased by both wives, a brother, Willard, and two sisters, Ida Lurvey and Dorothy Durgin.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, Oct. 13, at the Locke Mills Union Church, with interment in Riverside Cemetery, Bethel. Those who wish may make donations in Robert's memory to the Locke Mills Union Church, c/o Kathleen Bean, 222 Gore Road, Bryant Pond, ME 04219.

ELEANOR F. HEATH

Eleanor F. Heath, 83, died Friday, Oct. 9, 1998, at the Ledgewood Nursing Home in West Paris. She had resided on Greenwood Street in West Paris and had lived in the area for many years.

She was born in Wales on Feb. 4, 1915, the daughter of Robert and Bertha (Becker) Jones. She graduated from Monmouth Academy and Farmington Normal School with her degree in education. She taught school as an elementary school teacher in Wales, South Paris, Norway, and Lisbon Falls until her retirement.

She was married in Wales on Sept. 29, 1946, to Stanley P. Heath, who survives of West Paris.

She was a member of the Deering Memorial Methodist Church, the United Methodist Women's Society and had served as treasurer of the church. She was also a member of the Maine Retired Teachers Association.

Survivors besides her husband include two brothers, Carl Jones of Wales and Stanley Jones of Monmouth; and three nieces.

Funeral services were held Monday, Oct. 12, at the Meader & Son

Funeral Home in Norway, with interment in Wayside Cemetery, West Paris. Those who desire may contribute to the Deering Memorial Methodist Church, Main Street, South Paris, ME 04281 in her memory.

ANNIE M. FEENEY

Annie M. Feeney, 80, of Evergreen Road, Bethel, died Sunday, Oct. 11, 1998, at Ledgewood Nursing Home in West Paris.

She was born in Saco on Feb. 16, 1918, a daughter of John and Mary Pojanskowski Choroszy and graduated from Thornton Academy, Saco, in the Class of 1936.

Mrs. Feeney retired from Casco Northern Bank in Fryeburg and Bethel.

She was a past member of the 1918 Club and past president of Fryeburg Women's Library Club of Fryeburg, a former member of the Catholic Women's Club of Most Holy Trinity Church, Saco, and was a member of Our Lady of the Snows in Bethel.

Survivors include two sons, Donald E. of Bethel and Stephen D. of Portland; three brothers, John Choroszy of Bethesda, Md., Edmund Choroszy of Saco, and Zygmunt Choroszy of Newtonville, Mass.; one sister, Nancy Winlund of Arlington, Va.; four grandchildren; five great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by a son, John Paul, in 1960 and her husband, Donald J., in 1979.

Visiting hours were held Tuesday, Oct. 13, from 10 to 11 a.m. from Cote Funeral Home in Saco, with burial services following in St. Mary's Cemetery, Biddeford.

Mr. & Mrs. Jason Manjourides

Naomi Clement Fox and Jason Manjourides were united in a 4 p.m. ceremony on Aug. 8 at the West Parish Congregational Church. The Rev. Peter Chare officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Larry and Lisa Fox of Bethel. Parents of the bridegroom are Chris and Helen Manjourides of Bryant Pond. The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a white formal wedding gown featuring a beaded veil and long train accented with beads and lace. She carried a bouquet of wild flowers accented with roses and ivy.

Sharon Manjourides, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, attended as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Jennifer Moore, Koral Smith, Lori Davis, Jill Olson and Jaime Orrök. Thalia Grundstrom, cousin of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid.

Keith Manjourides was best man for his brother. Ushering were Amos Fox, brother of the bride, Todd and Troy Wing, Richie Diaz, Adam Chamberlin and Charles Lumpkins, cousin of the groom.

A reception was held at the Maine House, on Lake Christopher in Bryant Pond. The couple are residing in Bryant Pond after a wedding trip to Freeport, Bahamas.

The bride is a senior at the University of Maine at Farmington, majoring in special education. She is employed at the Guy E. Rowe Elementary School while attending school part-time.

The bridegroom is also in his fourth year at the University of Maine at Farmington, majoring in environmental planning and policy. He is working part-time at P.H. Chadbourne.

Card of Thanks

I would like to thank my family, friends and neighbors for all your support in both my time of grief and my stay in the hospital.

I was overwhelmed with your cards, flowers & prayers.

Thanks again,
Marian Fifeild

MISSIONS CONFERENCE

Starting at 6 p.m. Saturday evening with an International Dinner, the Bethel Alliance Church will be celebrating its annual World Missions Conference. The theme this year is, "Calling the Nations Before the Throne." Featured will be missionaries from Irian Jaya, Indonesia, Dick and Mary Byrne, and from Ecuador, South America, Gary Roedding.

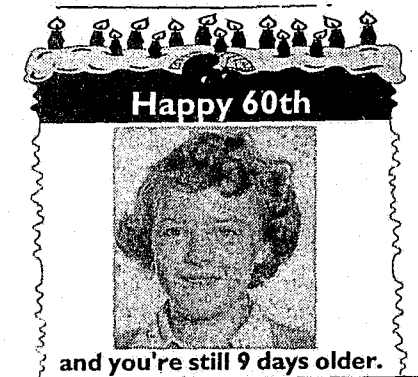

The Sunday gatherings will be at the regular service times of the church (10 a.m., 6 p.m.), and the weekend gatherings will be at 7 p.m. The public is invited to come and meet the missionaries and celebrate missions ministry.

Card of Thanks

Thanks to everyone who sent me cards, visited me in the hospital or have done errands for me.

Special thanks to our children, Dr. Bean and the nurses at Stephens Memorial Hospital for the great care I received.
